Mercury Passes 90-Mark For Third Day

Entire Nation Gasps With No Relief Sighted

Forecast Says Tonight and Tuesday Will Also be 'Warm'; 18 Drownings Listed As Ohioans Seek Respite From Blistering Temperatures.

The Mercury Goes Up and Up

9 a. m.	84	Noon	90
10	86	1 p. m.	92
11	88	2	94

Mansfielders and Americans from coast to coast wilted today under the cumulative effect of a three-day heat wave in which the mercury rose regularly to 94 degrees locally and hit 100 in Washington and 111 in Yuma, Ariz.

With no relief in sight, Ohio counted 18 drownings over the week-end as people sought relief from heat which caused two deaths due to prostration. Mrs. Mary Dietz, 82, Cincinnati, and Joel Y. Williams, 92, of Brilliant, were the prostration victims.

The weather forecast for tonight and Tuesday was "generally fair and continued warm," with thundershowers predicted Tuesday afternoon only in scattered areas.

At the official weather station outside the Mansfield city limits temperature recordings had shown a steady two-degree rise every hour from 9 a. m. when the mercury stood at 84, to 2 p. m. when the temperature was 94.

The 94-mark was the highest of the year in Mansfield, by a single degree. Observer Otto Sprunger's records showed that a mark of 90 had been reached both Saturday, when the intense heat struck Mansfield, and Sunday.

Forecasters could see no hint of relief from the heat blanket until Wednesday at the earliest and then they expected only a slight drop in temperatures. The swelter was not expected to really break until the end of the week.

No drownings were reported in the Mansfield area. Elsewhere in Ohio, however, nearly 20 persons lost their lives in the water.

WATCH HAVANA

But Germany More Interested In Things Close Home.

BERLIN — (NS) — Germany is "closely observing" the conference of American foreign ministers at Havana, but is not vitally interested in the proceedings, authoritative quarters said today.

"America is far away," was the concensus of opinion. "There are more important events pending which affect the course of the world far more than the conference at Havana."

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Two Columbus policemen were relieved that today they had shone a flashlight on a suspicious-looking intruder instead of shooting when he failed to heed their order of "hands up."

3,000 SEE RACE DRIVER KILLED

Motorcycle Rider Crashes Into Fence at Ashland; State Traffic Toll's 10.

As nearly 3,000 persons looked on, Robert Miller, 24, of Akron, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon as his racing motorcycle crashed into a fence at the Ashland county fairground.

His death boosted to 10 the number of persons killed in Ohio over the week-end due to traffic and other accidents. Three other persons were injured last night in an accident near Ashland, one of four mishaps reported in this area.

Young Miller was killed when his body was thrown against a guard post at the west side of the track, when he failed to make the curve. The handlebar of his cycle struck one post as he slid around the curve, throwing his body against another.

He was killed in the second race in the novice class of a motorcycle meet sponsored by the Ashland Motorcycle club. Funeral arrangements were not completed today.

Several other spills marked the races, but no one was injured in these, although three spectators were injured during the afternoon. Among them were Byran

The old mark was 171.38 miles per hour.

The speed-loving mayor made his second start at 5:33 a. m. 23 minutes after he first set off on his twice-postponed endurance test, when he was forced to change from his original course due to sogginess of the salt beds.

Cuban President Warns of 'Conquests of Force and Violence.'

(By Associated Press)

HAVANA—An emergency meeting of representatives of the 21 American republics looked today to the United States to point the way for concrete measures to bolster western hemisphere economy and defense against any totalitarian thrusts.

As the business of formally organizing the conference began, delegates of the Latin American countries, whose economies already have been disturbed by the loss of European markets, anxiously waited for Secretary of State Cordell Hull to indicate how far the United States is ready to go in helping solve their problems.

Hull planned to address the conference at 4 p. m. (EST) after the first private plenary session devoted to designation of committees.

The stage for his address was set yesterday by President Frederico Laredu Bru of Cuba who, in a speech of welcome, called upon the American nations to take concrete measures to defend their "common rights" against dangers which "increase day by day."

He warned the delegates they must approach the "difficult" problems before them in the full knowledge that the western hemisphere has become "the trustee for the remainder of betrayed civilization—a civilization pushed to the edge of a precipice."

In dealing with events in Europe the president mentioned no nations by name but he delivered barbed thrusts against "conquests of force and violence."

Judge Opens 'Cider Hound' War By Stepping Up Fines

Sends Two Transients to Workhouse to 'Sit Out' $40 Penalties; Others to 'Sit' In City Jail.

Describing two transients as "cider hounds," Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch this morning fined eight persons, including a woman, when arraigned before him on charges of intoxication, and ordered all of them to jail to "sit it out."

"We'll see if we can't break up some of this 'cider traffic'," the judge declared as he fined the transient pair $40 and costs apiece and ordered them committed to the Columbus workhouse until fine and costs are paid.

The other six, all arrested over the week-end and charged with intoxication were given $5 and $10 fines.

When one of them, who gave his home as Cincinnati, pleaded for a suspended sentence in order to "leave the city," Judge Kalbfleisch told him he would have to "sit it out" along with the others. All six pleaded guilty.

"Nobody is going to get drunk on cider in Mansfield and expect to get out of it," he warned. "All of you can sit it out."

Officers explained they found several of the men "passed out" on the streets. They said they had been drinking "hopped up" cider, a concoction made by putting sedative pills in the beverage.

Annenberg was sentenced by Judge James H. Wilkerson despite the fact that he made a civil settlement with the government in which he agreed to pay more than $9,000,000 in back taxes and penalties over a period of seven years.

Gives Child Molester Year, Ordered To Get Out Of Ohio

Probate Judge C. J. Anderson today ordered Junior T. Butcher, 45, of 109 East Fifth street, confessed child molester, to "get out of the state of Ohio and stay out" after he has served a one-year workhouse sentence imposed by the court.

Butcher was arraigned at 9 a. m. today on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a five-year-old girl last Wednesday night at her home 11½ East Fifth street. He pleaded guilty.

A former CCC camp employe at Mohican state park, Butcher was arraigned on charges filed by Prosecutor G. W. Marriott. The court sentenced him to serve a year in the workhouse and imposed a fine of $200.

The fine was suspended on condition that Butcher leave the state after he has served his sentence, "I want to make sure this man gets out of the state of Ohio and stays out," the court said.

Butcher, arrested last Wednesday, was identified in a police line-up by the five-year-old girl and her mother who was reported to have thwarted his attempt to assault the girl.

In custody of juvenile court today was an East Second street youth who was turned over to police last week by A. L. Krieg, 373 Park avenue west, who said he found the boy prowling in his garage at one o'clock in the morning.

Court officials said they planned to investigate the case to learn if any other boys had been connected with it and to arrange proper supervision for the East Second street youth.

BITTER DEBATE SEEN

Opposition to Compulsory Military Training Plan Reported.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Congress reconvenes today after a month of interruptions for political conventions to begin work on the $4,800,000,000 "total defense" bill and prepare for bitter debate on peacetime compulsory military training.

The two Republican members of President Roosevelt's cabinet — Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson — this week make their first appearance before a congressional committee since their confirmation to urge approval of the multi-billion dollar program.

Congressmen, returning from the Democratic national convention dug in for the rest of the summer. The scope of the pending legislation precluded any possibility of an adjournment before fall. Democratic leaders conceded that they would be here at least until Sept. 1; Republicans are insisting that congress remain in session for the duration of the international emergency.

Both the senate and house meet briefly at noon. They will adjourn almost immediately until Thursday, and then again until Monday, while leaders prepare a program and committees complete work on pending bills.

Most of this week's action will be in committees. Here is the status of bills affecting President Roosevelt's preparedness program.

Brutal Slaying Of 14-Year-Old Girl Discovered

FT. SNELLING, Minn. —(AP)— The brutal slaying of the 14-year-old daughter of a U. S. army sergeant whose body was found jack-knifed into an old oil drum Sunday set federal agents to work behind a veil of secrecy today in effort to trace the killer.

The girl, Mary Jane Massey, daughter of Sergt. and Mrs. William A. Massey, disappeared a week ago last Saturday. Her body was found crammed into the oil drum in a brush and weed covered ravine a few blocks from her home.

Autopsy said the blonde girl had been strangled with her own underwear, but because of the decomposed condition of the body they were unable to determine whether she had been criminally assaulted.

FBI officers took charge of the investigation because the crime occurred on a military reservation. They declined to divulge any information and refused to confirm a report that two men had been arrested.

Sergeant Massey and two St. Paul detectives, made the gruesome discovery about noon Sunday.

Nazis Declare Britain's 'Zero Hour' Will Strike Quickly After Hitler Offer Rejected; Bombing Raids Continued Over England

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—A ship identified as the 1,282-ton Frossoula, of Panama registry, was sunk by German bombers last week, an authoritative source said today, adding it is feared there was a "heavy loss of life."

(By Associated Press)

Under the flail of new German bombing attacks, Britons expected Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax to return a blunt "no compromise" reply today to Adolf Hitler's last-chance ultimatum — thereby possibly touching off the threatened Nazi invasion of England.

Authorized Nazis in Berlin said Britain's "zero hour" would follow quickly after Lord Halifax and Prime Minister Churchill have answered Hitler's "final appeal to reason."

Hitler himself has said that if the British reject a Nazi-prescribed peace, "My answer will be terrible for millions."

The German high command reported that waves of Nazi bombers set big fires at airdromes, ports, factories and oil tanks in the island kingdom.

Dive-bombing planes assaulted a convoy in the English channel, the high command said, and sank a tanker and four merchant ships totalling 40,000 tons.

The high command acknowledged that British Royal Air Force planes, raiding in the darkness over northern and western Germany, caused "some damage."

Nazi sky raiders struck hardest in the midlands, England's industrial heart, and in Scotland, where three towns underwent incendiary bomb attacks. Some casualties were reported.

Britons warmed to the fight of H. M. S. 1,360-ton destroyer Brazen, which shot down three attacking planes even as she settled in the water to sink from a bomb explosion.

Lord Halifax will speak at 3:15 p. m. (EST) in a broadcast scheduled before Hitler's Reichstag address last Friday but Britons nevertheless expected him to reply to the fuehrer.

As the Nazis kept up the air war, Britain reported at least two and possibly three big German bombers were shot down by anti-aircraft fire in pre-dawn battles today and 24 German planes were downed Saturday and Sunday.

Proudest British announcement dealt with the asserted rout of 80 German planes—40 bombers and 40 fighters—by six British Hurricane planes in an hour-and-15-minute battle over the English channel Sunday afternoon. The British said one German plane was shot down and the others raced for home, their attack on a merchant shipping convoy thwarted.

German bombers killed at least 15 persons in widely scattered districts of Britain Sunday, however.

The British acknowledged loss of 11 planes in raids Saturday night on the German naval base at Wilhelmshaven and other objectives.

The Germans admitted loss of five planes Saturday but said the British lost 22.

Also on the debit side, Britain reported the submarine Salmon was long overdue and given up for lost and that the minesweeping trawler Crestflower was sunk by enemy aircraft.

The Salmon last Dec. 12 reported destruction of a German submarine, damaging of the German cruisers Blucher and Leipzig and letting the German liner

DELAY: Nazis Give Britain 24 Hours To Consider Peace

BERLIN—(INS)—Nazi Germany today virtually abandoned hope that Great Britain will sue for peace "to avoid destruction" but gave England another 24 hours or more before launching the attack for which all preparations have been completed.

Expressions of opinion in England over the week-end apparently convinced the German government that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's "last offer" to the enemy will go unheeded.

The Reich will wait, however, until after Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax has delivered his broadcast tonight and Prime Minister Winston Churchill has made his expected address to the house of commons tomorrow.

If both slam the door, it was said, the die will be cast.

So far as Germany is concerned, authentic spokesmen declared, the "zero hour for England's destruction" will not be set until Halifax or Churchill have been given every opportunity to decide the fate of the British empire.

Early hopes that a storm of public British opposition to continuation of the war might sweep Churchill aside and permit a peaceful end to the conflict were dissipated. In this connection, reports that former Premier David Lloyd George had asked a secret session of parliament to consider Hitler's peace appeal attracted scant attention.

"We do not formulate or base our policy on the activity of anony-

SOVIETIZED: Latvian Banks And Industries Nationalized

RIGA, Latvia—(UP) — Parliament voted to nationalize banks and big industrial concerns of Latvia today after unanimous decision by the parliaments of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania to seek admission to the Soviet union.

All large agricultural estates also will be nationalized under the action taken by parliament. Estonia and Lithuania were scheduled to take similar action.

In London, regret was expressed that the three Baltic states were joining the Soviet union. In Berlin it was stated by an authorized source that Sovietization of the Baltics did not disturb German relations with the three states or with Russia. Many large German land-owners have been repatriated from the Baltics.

The supreme Soviet of Russia was expected to meet wit' in a few days to accept the three Baltic republics into their union as its 13th, 14th and 15th autonomous republics.

German dispatches reported that President Konstantin Paets of Estonia had handed his resignation to Premier Johannes Vares, but this was later officially denied.

By the votes here and at Tallinn and Kaunas, Russia gained 6,000,000 people and 64,000 square miles of territory. It had extended its frontier along the northern side of East Prussia to the Baltic and had reached a point within 60 miles of Koenigsberg, key town of East Prussia.

Don't Want Her to Marry American

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

A year ago I met a young lady through business association and I fell in love with her. She is 21 and I'm 28. I am an American, and although she was born in another country, she came to America when a young child and has grown up here. Her family refuse to let her associate with anyone outside their nationality.

The only way she can see me is by sneaking. Why is it that they treat me so? I'm proud of my character, but above all I want to marry her. She adores me and has consented to be my wife, but says we'll have to remain away from her family forever if we marry.

I have no family and would welcome a chance to associate with hers, even though their ways might be foreign to me. I could adjust myself. I've asked her repeatedly to let me call, but she refuses, saying they would only be cold toward me.

I don't need financial assistance. All I want is the happiness of my wife at least partly assured, and I feel this can be accomplished only by being allowed to visit with her family. Do you have some suggestion for solving our problem or maybe your readers might help? MAC.

My good American dander always rises when I hear of people who have immigrated to this country, benefited by its liberal laws and succeeded financially and then object to their daughters marrying American citizens.

As the young lady is 21, earns her own living, I think she might add a touch of American independence by walking off with you some fine day and getting married. Her family will probably put on a good dose of Old World fireworks. They may rage, scream and read her out of the family circle. But as you have a good job and do not need their financial assistance, they'll probably come 'round the week after and eat out of your hand.

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Farther back than that," Dicky said a bit cockily. "Indeed we knew you must have beaten it, when we couldn't find you before we left, although Katie swore you were both 'sure, shoost someveres close by.' We looked for Jim, then in the garage, found him and the station wagon missing, put three and two together, and made it five, then beat it across the fields to Tiger's—the trail of the station wagon lay that way.

"We had no trouble getting information from Mrs. Tiger and Jim. When we reached the rendezvous and saw the tire tracks of the station wagon in the dust, then we knew for certain, and I stayed behind to see just what fool stunt you were pulling."

"Well! you found out, didn't you?" Lillian drawled.

"Yes, you sure pulled a fast one and probably saved the day," Dicky acknowledged handsomely, "but that doesn't put it on the free list for you two to go cavorting around on dangerous stunts like these. Why! you might have been killed, both of you!"

"And I suppose you and Harry were safe in your little cribs with your blocks and teddy bears through all this ruckus!" Lillian gibed. "Nay, nay, little one, stow the melodramatic objections. In this case, the sauce for the ganders is also to be lapped up by the geese."

"Glad you've labeled yourselves," Dicky growled. "But don't make any mistake about this. When old Harry and I get you two safely home we're going to —"

"You and how many more?" Lillian gibed mechanically with her eyes on the road ahead on which a car had just appeared. "Madge, is that one of our cars?"

I carefully scrutinized the oncoming car.

"Yes, it's one of ours," I said, adding a second later, "And Harry is driving it."

Dicky raised himself from his position on the floor of the car.

"Get over to the side of the road and stop," he directed. "I'll get out and flag them."

He did not need to flag them. Harry Underwood drew his car up opposite ours, and his eyes flickered over us with apparently no recognition.

"Well!" he said to Dicky.

"Meet two friends of mine, Hank and Bill Sweet," Dicky said gravely. "I lent them the station wagon this morning and they came along just in time to give me a hand with Jack Leslie and his chauffeur.

That Harry Underwood realized our identity I was sure, but he played up nobly.

"Glad to know you," he said carelessly to us. Then he spoke tensely to Dicky.

"Jack Leslie!" he ejaculated. "So he was here all the time!"

"Yes, but he didn't get into the game, thanks to our good friends here. I'll tell you all about it later. Just now we'd better hit the road for home. Leslie and his chauffeur are tied up and gagged in the brush back yonder. But they can roll out to the road when they see their pals come back looking for them, as they surely will."

"They will when the get their cars untangled," Harry said with a chuckle. "Yes, and when they do get straightened out and Leslie realizes how he's been fooled, he'll boil."

"Leslie already knows all about it," Dicky said grimly. "I had the pleasure of telling him."

"Then there's all the more reason for us to hurry home," Harry said, as he sent a meaning glance toward Lillian and me. "You lead it on ahead, take the shortest way back to the farm. Go slowly till I get this car turned around. I'll be right behind you, all the way."

Fifth Columnists Among Gladiolus

Thrips are the under-cover terrorists which work like fifth columns among gladiolus. Precautions against them must be on a year around basis. These always active insects feed upon the leaves, buds and flowers of gladiolus. From the time growth is six inches high until the buds show color a spray campaign (once a week) must be maintained if damage by thrips is to be prevented. Spray with a mixture of 4½ teaspoonfuls of tartar emetic, 8 ounces of brown sugar to three gallons of water.

The adult thrip is a black-winged insect, one-sixteenth of an inch long. A closeup of one, greatly enlarged, is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. In the immature stage these insects are wingless and a pale yellow in color. The results of their undercover work among gladiolus are imperfect flowers and distorted flower spikes. Signs of thrips at work are small silvery-white streaks on the leaves and flowers.

Gladiolus corms should be treated for thrip after they are dug up. Burn the tops from the plants and fumigate the corms in closed paper bags, using one ounce of naphthalene flakes to every hundred corms. After a month's time, open the bags, remove the flakes and store the corms in a dry place.

Boil Baby's Milk In Summertime

BY GARY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

In this column today I have in mind especially the baby in congested city areas, the baby in rural places, and the baby who goes travelling.

Just because hot weather may increase digestive disturbance and intestinal troubles in babies and young children, the mother can afford to take special precautions.

Especially in rural places the baby's drinking water should be boiled. It won't hurt him if the water is not cold.

Fruit and vegetables are safer when cooked, though cooking might destroy some of their vitamins. Anyway, we can be sure the fruit and vegetables are well washed; this also to remove poisons left by spraying.

Watch Diet.

In city or country, a safe way is to boil the baby's milk. H. Kent Tenney, jr., M. D., associate professor of pediatrics, University of Wisconsin Medical school, advises (in "Let's Talk About Your Baby"):

"About continuing the use of boiled milk: I believe it is a good plan to keep it up until the baby is about two years old. It is more easily digested and much safer than raw milk. Pasteurization probably makes the milk perfectly safe but does not affect its digestibility. The fear of the constipating effect of boiled milk would not influence my opinion even if it were true. And anyhow, a bit of constipation is a much safer thing to have around the house than a tendency to diarrhea.

"The very common use of boiled milk in the treatment of diarrhea is for the purpose of preventing the entrance of tough curds into an already irritated bowel and not for any specific constipating effect."

Concerning diarrhea, Dr. Tenney says:

"In line with this question of dietary restrictions, I want to say a few words about diarrhea, which, in spite of our efforts, is still a large contributor to infant mortality and morbidity. As I have told you before, diarrhea is a very untrustworthy neighbor to have around, and the younger the child the more treacherous it is. In other words the potential dangers of a diarrhea at one year are far greater than at four years. Now, while there are many types and causes of diarrhea, and it is not worth while for you to learn all about them, still there are some things you should know so that if your child develops the condition you can make some dietary changes.

Boil Baby's Milk.

"Regardless of the type of diarrhea, it is wise to reduce to a minimum the fat, sugar, and roughage in the diet. This can be readily done by using skimmed, thoroughly boiled milk, and omitting sugar, cereals, and vegetables. The addition of a teaspoonful or so of unsweetened chocolate to the boiling milk is frequently effective, as is also the use of some of the protein powders such as Mead's Casec.

"But the really important thing to do is to replace the fluid that is being lost, by giving plenty of water. I told you a few minutes ago that when the baby had fever you could give him any kind of fruit juice, but in the case of diarrhea it is best to stick to plain water or very weak tea, as fruits are somewhat laxative.

"If his diarrhea is complicated by vomiting, the necessity for fluids is even greater. Here you must start with minute quantities, building up gradually as he demonstrates his ability to retain them. When it comes to the treatment of the type of vomiting that is not complicated by diarrhea, the system is much the same in regard to quantities, but here we use much sweetened fruit juice or at times just plain sugar."

I wish every mother of an infant might have a copy of Dr. Tenney's little book.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

Your partner's small card lead against a No Trump contract can tell you various facts about his own and declarer's hand, besides those to be ascertained by means of the Rule of Eleven. By that procedure, subtracting from eleven the size of the card led, you find out how may cards higher than it are in the other three hands, in case it was a fourth-best lead. Then, by seeing how many of these higher cards are in dummy and your own hand, you can tell how many cards the declarer has that will beat the one led. But other information from the lead may be just as important, or more so, as in these situations.

	Card Led	Dummy's Holding	Your Holding
1.	6	Q 4 2	K J 5 3
2.	7	J 8 6	K 9 5
3.	6	Q 7	9 8 4 2
4.	8	Q 10 9	K 7 6 4

In the first case the card is clearly a fourth-best. The higher ones are the A, 10, 9, 8 and 7, of which you know your partner has three. The declarer almost surely has the A and one of the smaller four cards. So, if the Q if played from dummy, you cover with the K, but if not you play the J. More important still, since your partner has no smaller cards than his lead, the smaller ones are all being in sight, you know he has exactly four cards of the suit and the declarer three.

In the second case, there are only three higher cards out, the A, Q, and 10. If your partner has all of these, declarer would not have bid No Trump. Hence your partner probably has made an irregular or short-suit lead. He probably has tenaces or guarded honors in other suits, from which he did not like to lead, or else an extremely weak hand.

With No 3, the missing honors, if the is a fourth-best lead, would be the A, K, J and 10. But with three of those, he would have to hold either the A-K, in which case he would lead the K, or the J-10, in which case he would lead the J. So this must be an irregular short-suit lead too.

With No. 4, it is impossible for the lead to be fourth-best, since there are only two higher cards than the eight-spot which are not in sight. Hence, it is some sort of short-suit lead, and you should govern yourself accordingly.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, July 23.

A moderate degree of routine activity may be expected on this day, according to the lunar and mutual transits. By keeping these industriously to the grindstone, with resolution, patience and perseverence, there is quite likely to be a surprising turn of events, either in stumbling upon something radically new or in attracting the recognition of capital ready to cooperate.

Those whose birthday it is may plan for a year of diligence and perseverence, especially in the development of some project of a new or ingenious type - something at once practical and novel. Unexpected influence may be impressed for promotion, which may culminate in a pleasingly unlooked-for denouement, although subject to some sort of treachery or opposition. It is also suggested as advisable to let the other interested ones put up the funds for experimentation and promotion.

A child born on this day may be steady, persistent and hardworking, with definite ambitions of a practical kind. It may be disposed to squander its substance unless trained in thrift.

Kitchen Hints

Sun Gold Cake.

½ cup butter, ⅔ cup granulated sugar, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, ½ cup water, 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ cup orange marmalade, ½ cup nuts.

Cream butter. Add sugar and mix until very soft. Add other ingredients and beat two minutes. Pour into a loaf pan, wax paper lined. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Dress up some of your plain cookies with fancy fillings. A delicious tea-time treat is made by putting small sugar cookies together in pairs with a raspberry jam, cream cheese filling—equal parts of each. And peanut butter filling for spice or butterscotch cookies will please the youngsters. The next time the boys' club meets at your house serve them large sugar cookies with a thick filling made by putting chopped raisins and nuts in white confectioner's sugar frosting. Accompany by hot chocolate if the day is brisk and chilled fruit juices, if warm.

CHAPTER XXXIII

"I say, Bob, I ah, observe that you admire Miss Ta admire Rosemary a great deal. May I suggest that you follow up an advantage I feel quite sure you have there? I mean to say, your feelings are reciprocated in some measure, I am sure."

"Hunh?" Bob looked at him in surprise.

The truck driver put in, then. "He says the dame likes you, too, see? Whyn't you exude some pahsonality at her, as the feller says?"

"Quite so!" Monty smiled a bit.

Bob was delighted. Partly because he was hearing good news, or imagined he was, and partly because in his somewhat high vanity he liked to have talk centered around himself and his interests.

The men had talked there for almost an hour longer, flagrantly wasting time and secretly hoping the girls would come back to be seen again, when Walpi Tom burst into the rear door of the building in a high state of excitement.

"Is help come quick whooo Mr. Bob!" he almost yelled it, shrilling. "Is wind come here there you smellum hurry smoke take sun in cloud run fast—"

Walpi's peculiar jumble came rapidly.

Bob sensed, rather than understood, what the Indian was saying, and he dashed to the front porch. Monty and the truck driver followed. They gazed appalled at a mountain of smoke billowing off to the right.

"Good lord!" Bob exclaimed. "She's roaring already, and the wind's driving it right across the lake trail!"

The others could only stare, as if somehow the ominous spectacle held them hypnotized.

In one who has never experienced or never seen a forest fire, there can be no adequate conception of the majesty of it—nor of the extreme terror. There had been much recurrent talk of fires around Flagstaff and at Rosemary's trading post this summer, but Dr. Archibald Montgomery had not been particularly impressed. The discussion, so far as he was concerned, was academic, as that of any other far-away, concept might have been. Now, though, the matter was brought forcefully home to him. All in an hour the placid green beauty of the trees around him was threatened by the greatest destroyer of all. When Walpi Tom rushed up to him and Bob and the gasoline truckman, incoherent from excitement, Monty found himself incoherent as well.

"Oh! Oh I say uhhhh!" He literally groaned in despair at what he saw from the front porch. "Rosemary is is Rosemary and Sue ?"

Off to the right was a great cloud, not of vapor threatening rain but of billowing black masses with streaks of red-orange licking up from below. It was some distance from the trading post, yet it loomed ominously. It's dark upper levels had begun to blot out the morning sun, casting a veritable pall over the earth and man's puny doings.

"The rock cliff will protect the post here, but the blaze is bound to cut right across the lake trail!" Bob repeated. "If I only had some dynamite—or the stand-by crew knew to come here we could blast out the trail and block it easily!"

"Dynamite?" the truck driver echoed.

"Sure! We can fight fire with fire, that way. There'll be men coming, but they'll be practically helpless without equipment or tools. We should have had a cache near the post here!"

Bob was calm about it as a ranger must be, although he spoke crisply. He surveyed the situation as best he could, studying the terrain and wind blow and probable progress of the blaze.

"I say!" Monty's face was pale with anxiety now as he turned to Bob. "The girls have gone to the lake, you know! If the fire is burning toward the lake trail—?"

"Sue is with Rosemary," Bob said. "You can't panic Sue. She's a forest ranger's daughter. She will know exactly what to do."

"But suppose she can't —ah, is unable to do what she should in view of the ?"

"There's only two of them down there, man! What I'm worried about are the tourists on Lookout Point. They'll be cut off before they know it. There's a dozen house trailers and tents camped there this week! Lordy, this place needs a telephone! I could direct everything and get dynamite here in a hurry. Then we could blast out the old lake trail and hold the fire right there to the east of it. Don't you see? We could do it almost single-handed!"

Monty only stared at Bob then. Stared in quiet disappointment and anger.

Plainly Bob King's thoughts had turned only to duty in this moment of stress. He was a soldier willing to sacrifice any personal feelings for the so-called cause, and this was a concept utterly foreign to Dr. Montgomery. To the idealistic if somewhat shy young professor, a personal love was an all-encompassing thing; if a man loved a girl as he knew he loved Rosemary Taylor and as he had imagined Bob King must neither fire nor hell nor act of God could restrain him from defending her first of all, insofar as he was capable. And yet Bob King had dismissed the plight of Rosemary and Sue as unimportant. "There's only two of them down there," Bob had just said, exactly as a field general might weigh probable man loss in a military action.

But Monty was distressed beyond words now. He didn't know what to do after that swift few minutes during which they watched the fire's progress and listened to Bob's summary. He had naturally turned to the forest ranger for guidance. Bob was commissioned by society and its law to direct any work of rescue and fire fighting. Bob was supposed to be in love with a certain girl who undoubtedly was in danger, and yet he had calmly dismissed that fact as inconsequential. Monty's anger at him mounted higher. He wanted somehow to strike the man, to force him to take action toward saving the girls instead of just standing there lamenting the lack of men and tools and dynamite.

HOW YOU CAN GET A CASH LOAN QUICKLY AND SIMPLY

You can borrow $100 if you can pay back $4.46 a month—See table for other loan plans—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, friendly service.

YOU can get a personal loan without red tape or delay—if you can repay in small monthly installments. All you do to apply for a loan at Household is to acquaint us with your problem. You need no bankable security—no endorsers or guarantors.

You may repay your loan on any of the schedules shown in the table below. Then you may choose the payment plan which best fits your own needs and income.

Payments to fit your purse

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.46 each will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $4.46 a month for thirty months will also repay a $100 loan.

You will note that the sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.26 each, or a total of only $105.04, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full.

Same rate to everyone

Installments shown in the table repay everything. These installments include charges at Household's rate of 2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $300, and 1½% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This rate is substantially less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only this one rate—the same for everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

Simple to borrow

You get your Household Finance loan in a simple, private transaction. We require no stocks or bonds. Loans are made on furniture, car or note. You are spared the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And no questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives.

Considerate treatment

New Dealers Hope to Win Garner Back In Peace Move

ORGANIZATION AGAINST THIRD TERM FEARED

Administration Backers Seek Party Harmony in South; Bolts Reported.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Senate New Dealers were trying today to effect a political reconciliation between Vice President Garner and President Roosevelt, in hopes of staving off an organization of anti-third term Democrats.

The movement to patch up differences between Garner and the president was inaugurated without the knowledge of Mr. Roosevelt. Administration New Dealers hope Garner will make an overture of reconciliation to the president, and thereby create the semblance of party harmony so far as southern democracy is concerned.

Close friends of Garner said this New Deal move is doomed to failure. They insist the Texan remains bitterly opposed to a third term for Mr. Roosevelt or any other president and that he will not modify his position, even for the sake of party harmony.

The president's choice of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, a former Republican, as his running-mate served only to widen the split between Garner and Mr. Roosevelt, the Texan's friends say. They added that if the president had chosen a conservative southern Democrat of long party fealty as his running-mate—a southerner such as Speaker William Bankhead or House Leader Sam Rayburn—a reconciliation might have been arranged. Now, the Garnerites say, the nearest Garner can come to a reconciliation is to retire to his Texas home and stay out of the 1940 campaign.

This bears out persistent rumors that the 71-year-old Texan will shortly leave Washington for his Uvalde, Texas, home, to spend the remainder of the summer hunting and fishing. Friends say he is convinced that the president has no more use for his services and that his advice will no longer be sought at the White House.

New Dealers on Capitol Hill, however, are hoping for a "kindly word" from Garner, urging a united front in the coming campaign. Such a move by the Texan, they say, would go far toward halting the proposed organization of anti-third term Democrats to combat the president's reelection.

The New Dealers frankly are alarmed by the prospects of large-scale defections among conservative Democrats. Senator Edward R. Burke, of Nebraska, launched the revolt by announcing he would support Wendell Willkie, the GOP standard-bearer. Former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, followed with an invitation to all Democratic anti-third termers to meet in Chicago Thursday to organize a "grass roots" revolt against Mr. Roosevelt.

Reports of bolts reach here from all sections of the country. Dr. Hamilton Holt, lifelong Democrat of Woodstock, Conn., announced he would support Willkie. So, too, did David W. Pipes, Louisiana planter, and Charles A. Farwell, spokesman for the American sugar cane league. Pipes and Farwell hope to throw Louisiana into the GOP column.

M'Guffey Society Plans Statue For Author of Reader

OXFORD, O.—(AP)—A statue memorial to William Holmes McGuffey, author of 19th century elementary school readers, will be erected on Miami university's campus.

Plans for the memorial were announced by the national federation of McGuffey societies, concluding their annual meeting here yesterday.

Addressing the group, Dr. W. E. Smith, professor of history at the university, praised McGuffey as one of the nation's greatest educators and asserted:

"His readers were written for young people who were taught to believe in God, themselves and the future of America."

The organization elected E. C. Hood of Portsmouth president, John H. Newland of Indianapolis vice president and H. E. Minnich of Miami university secretary-treasurer.

In appreciation for their services during the July 4 celebration at the Fairground, the Mansfield Boy Scouts who were on duty during the day are to be guests of the Mansfield Public Parks association at the Friday evening performance of the Madge Kinsey Players. Since scouts are not permitted to accept money for such duty, they are to be repaid in this way by the association. Those scouts who were on duty that day are to report to scout headquarters Wednesday.

The Mansfielders who are aboard the S. S. Alabama, which is due back to Lake Erie waters today after a cruise on the upper lakes, broke into print in the ship's daily newspaper. Elmer Eckert served as master of ceremonies at a ship show, with Nick White contributing a stunt. But John Dinsmore rated the Winchell column of the paper. The following item in the ship paper still has John blushing, according to communications: "Via the grape vine, Miss Marie Charles of Minneapolis, and John Nicholson Dinsmore, Mansfield, O., have been observed as being 'that way' about each other. According to our informant, Mr. Dinsmore is described as being Mansfield's most lovable, chubby and eligible bachelor." It takes years to live down such ociety items.

Torrid temperatures may have drawn groans and perspiration from most Mansfielders but there are plenty of smiles over the weather today in the office of County Engineer Howard Sword. "For the first time this season," Sword reports, "work is progressing the way we like to have it." He was referring to the job of putting bituminous surface on 18.9 miles of county road. The material requires approximately 24 hours to dry and damp cold weather slowed work greatly earlier in the summer. With progress made during the past week the job is about two-fifths completed.

The municipal airport seems to have gotten to be a haven for homeless hounds. Since the disappearance several weeks ago of "Herman," the mongrel dog that showed up last winter, there have been no dogs around, but this past week a new pup showed up and was promptly adopted by attendants. A friendly hound, he answers to his new name of "Tailwind."

Soldiers Face Court Martial After Escape Attempt.

BURLINGTON, Vt.—(AP)—Two soldiers involved in an unsuccessful escape from Fort Ethan Allen's detention center and the subsequent wounding of two pursuers, will be court-martialed soon, fort authorities said today.

Army officials said Pvt. Bernard C. Bevins would be charged with assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill and Pvt. George E. Swertser with escaping confinement.

Col. Edmund L. Gruber said Bevins shot Major J. K. Mitchell of the third cavalry in the mouth when the latter captured the two men in Morrisville, about 40 miles from here.

Bevins was wounded in one leg when he escaped a second time. During the gun duel, Horace G. Melendy, a motor vehicle inspector aiding in the pursuit, suffered a bullet bruise in one knee.

HUNT COUPLE IN 8 STATES

Disappear With Strongbox Containing $4,500 of Father's Money.

NEW YORK—(INS)— An eight-state alarm was out today for Lena Colonnelli, 16, and Kenneth Watson, 20, who disappeared simultaneously with Lena's father's strongbox containing $4500 in savings.

The couple were believed en route either to Hollywood in search of a motion picture career or to Watson's old home in Oregon.

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — A couple who, police said, answered the description of Lena Colonnelli, 16, and Kenneth Watson, 20 missing from New York with $4,500 belonging to the girl's father, registered at a mid-town Philadelphia hotel last Friday.

They identified themselves as Chicago newlyweds. According to the hotel manager, John Tenney they checked out late yesterday afternoon and the girl engaged a taxicab driver to take her to Altoona, Pa., for $75. Since then, Tenney said, her companion has been calling to inquire whether "my wife returned."

At the suggestion of detectives, the hotel advised him this morning that his wife returned, but the youth had not reappeared.

OHIO JUNIOR C. OF C. BACKS MILITARY TRAINING PROGRAM

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The board of directors of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce today approved legislation to require compulsory military training.

The Junior Chamber represents 3500 young businessmen between the ages of 21 and 35 who would be affected by passage of the Burke-Wadsworth bill now pending in the senate. This measure would list all men between the ages of 21 and 65 subject to training of some kind.

The board of directors asked the government to keep citizens apprised of all diplomatic movements affecting the possibilities of American involvement in war and opposed the sending of an armed force outside the western hemisphere.

National defense taxes received the endorsement of the chamber's officers.

The position of the state organization was the same as that taken previously by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The governing body of the Junior Chamber said the following elements were necessary to a successful defense policy:

1. Definition of the geographical area to be defended, the minimum to include the United States and its possessions in this hemisphere.

2. Organization of all resources including industry as well as manpower.

3. Recognition and willingness to meet new tax burdens to defray additional costs, to be paid so far as possible out of current revenues.

4. Steps to eliminate disloyalty, strict enforcement of immigration laws and registration of aliens.

SPEED ACTION OF EMERGENCY PREPARATIONS

Converted Commercial Ships Made Part of Overseas Unit of Corps.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The navy disclosed today that four destroyers were being fitted out for use of the marine corps, evidencing efforts to speed creation of a "minute man" expeditionary force ready for any hemisphere emergency.

The destroyers are World war warships, recently recommissioned after years of idleness. Naval circles understood they would be converted into high speed transports, specially armed and equipped to put ashore advance forces at any hemisphere point where hostilities threatened.

At the same time officials said the marine corps has rapidly been increased to a strength of approximately 28,000 officers and men, with the 31,000 goal in sight.

The fleet marine force, subject to first orders for overseas service, is being expanded one-third by the formation of two new heavily armed defense battalions.

In addition to the destroyer-transports, converted commercial vessels are to be made a part of the overseas force, informed congressmen understood. The liner Iriquois and the cargo-passenger ship Mormacpenn were acquired last week by the navy for undisclosed purposes.

The navy's intention, informed house members reported, is to maintain in a high state of readiness a seagoing version of Germany's fast moving armored land divisions. Ships would be fully equipped with artillery, tanks and special boats for quick landings so they could sail as soon as the marines marched aboard.

Any attempted "fifth column" coup in Latin American resulting in a call for United States intervention thus could be dealt with promptly, it was explained.

John L. Lewis disclosed yesterday that he had asked the defense commission to "blacklist" firms which fail to comply with rulings of the national labor relations board.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Speaking For Myself.

I've discovered that at least half the showgirls in New York wish they were airplane hostesses. The beauties who make the Broadway musicals and floor shows lovelier to look at—and who are envied by so many girls who yearn for glitter and footlights and stagedoor swains—would much rather fly the airplanes in trim uniforms than stroll the boards in Raoul Peire duBois' most exotic costumes. But they've all been turned down by the airlines, because they're all over the height limit.

I certainly think patriotism of the most fervent kind should be encouraged and even promoted in these times, but I am against changing our national anthem from "The Star Spangled Banner" to "God Bless America" and I am very weary of the attempts to promote this switch, especially those ubiquitous newsreels full of waves of grain, mountains, skylines, waterfalls, and Kate Smith.

I think Irving Berlin is a fine composer, but I don't think there is any patriotic comparison between a song that men have marched to and fought to and died to and a song made popular by a radio singer who after all is getting paid by a commercial sponsor to sing it. "The Star Spangled Banner" is a warm American tradition, and I don't believe in changing anthems in mid-stream.

* * *

I'm always amused by people who have it all figured out that because a presidential candidate has an alliterative name (Woodrow Wilson, Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover, Wendell Willkie) he's sure to wind up in the White House. How about the bandleaders—Tommy Tucker, Kay Kyser, Gray Gordon, Blue Barron; Ben Bernie, Glen Gray, Horace Heidt? Think any of them will ever be President? Somehow I think women's hats are getting saner. Or maybe I'm just getting used to them.... If I never hear the Woodpecker Song on radio, phonograph, stage, sound track or hand organ, I will be a very happy girl . . . I hate amateur magicians who show you a wonderful mystifying trick and then won't tell you how it works.

* * *

Every time I hear that a noted woman—or any other kind of woman, for that matter—is rolling bandages for the Red Cross, I become more and more puzzled about this business of rolling bandages. Is it purely sympolic, or do they really fill a need when they roll strips of gauze by hand?

It seems to me anyone, in 15 minutes, could invent a gadget that would roll bandages twice as well and 20 times as fast as the swiftest lady, no matter how celebrated, possibly could; are all bandages rolled by hand? Aren't the bandages you buy in a drug store rolled by machine? What's the point?

I think the World's Fair guides and policemen are very attractive to look at and very polite to speak to. . . . A wet paint sign just acts as a magnet to me. I never can resist touching the paint, just to see if it's really wet—and it always is.

I think Nelson Eddy has one of the three best baritone voices extant, but his emoting makes me yawn. . . . Every time I play roulette (which couldn't be more seldom) I feel faintly wicked...

Little Italy, on the lower East Side, is the place in Manhattan which makes me feel most as if I am in a foreign country.

Fishing seems to me, from a remote viewpoint, to be an exceedingly dull pastime; I can't discover the amusement value in standing holding a stick for hours just to catch a few fish—which are so easy to buy at the corner fish market. But I suppose if I ever tried it I'd become a fiend, too—hobbies are always so much more alluring when you've tried them once.

* * *

When I see those midget cars parked along Fifth Avenue, I have to restrain myself from trying to lift one of them all by myself. They look so little and silly.

I always feel guilty when I jay walk—as though a tall officer in a blue uniform were about to step up, tap me on the shoulder and whisk me off to the brig.

* * *

I think someone should start a School for Politicians—and some law ought to make it compulsory for every active politician in the public eye to attend it. The course: Diction, How to Choose a Good Tailor, Microphone Technique, and How to Talk Into a Newsreel Camera Without Becoming as Comical as a Sweepstakes Winner.

I guess you really have to be pretty elderly to remember when the arrival of a telegram was an exciting event. Now everybody gets them by the dozen a day, and they're always invitations to a cocktail party, invitations to a week-end, happy birthday wires, or just gag messages from friends who can't pass a telegraph office without dashing off a witticism to a pal.

I can never understand why a motion picture studio which spends hundreds of thousands of dollars on a movie and then advertises it with a carelessly made, inept trailer. "My Love Came Back," for example, was touted by a trailer that would keep you out of the theater—and actually it was a good picture.

* * *

Every time it rains in July and August I feel sorry for the poor stenographers who have waited a whole year for a two weeks vacation—and wind up sitting on the front porch of some summer hotel, watching the raindrops and listening to the thunder.

Hollywood Speaks---

HOLLYWOOD "Scatterbrain," Screenplay by Jack Townley, Val Burton. Directed by Gus Meins. Principals: Judy Canova, Alan Mowbray, Ruth Donnelly, Eddie Foy, jr., Joseph Cawthorn, Wallace Ford, Isabel Jewell, Luis Alberni, Billy Gilbert, Emmett Lynn, Jimmy Starr.

* * *

A pleasant if minor addition to the catalogue of movies about the movies, "Scatterbrain" gives plain, studiously awkward, vocally attractive Judy Canova opportunity to display her abundant humor.

In the course of the yarn there are the usual preposterous situations, handled in the approximately usual way. There is the search for a star for the producer's big show. There is a talent scout (Foy) whose idea for a find is exposed as his own by the temperamental director (Mowbray). The scheme is to discover the script's actress girl friend (Jewell) as a plain mountain girl unveiled behind the slow or hot piggy's farm. Accompanied by members of the press, the director and entourage discover and the plotted actress herself become lady, who is the real thing.

* * *

Then there's the business about Judy's arrival at the studio with a crated pony in tow. Then she decides to get in the press party at which the scout discovers too late that they have signed the real thing instead of the intended fraud. There are the frantic efforts to persuade Judy to break her contract and the employment of a hypnotic professor (Alberni) to work his will on her. There's the big party at which Judy's newly found voice has lockered (Continued on View Below, is unreeled, ardized by now, still is funny.

Mansfield Halts Findlay In Twin Bill; Lima Here Tonight

Missler's Hitting Is Feature of Double Victory

Walt's Homer Gives Braves First Triumph; He Also Sparks Winning Rally In Night Cap.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THANKS to the sensational hitting of Walt Missler and the steady mound work of Everett Stenman and Bob Arnold out at the Fairground yesterday the Mansfield Braves have climbed back near the .500 mark in the Ohio State league standings.

With Missler, first string catcher, pounding the ball to all corners of the lot, and Stenman and Arnold handcuffing the opponents when men were on the paths, the Braves handed the second-place Findlay Oilers a twin defeat before a disappointing crowd of 400. The scores were 8 to 7 in both contests.

Missler wasn't satisfied in producing a homer to win the initial affray. He batted for Frankie Ankenbrandt in the sixth in the second tilt and drove in two runs as the Braves rallied to knot the score at 7-all. Walt also turned in a creditable performance behind the plate in the initial tussle.

* * *

Inspired by their twin triumph over the Oilers, the Braves will square off against the pace-making Lima Pandas at the Fair park under the arcs at 8:30 p. m. today. Tony Angaran is expected to handle the mound duties.

* * *

Stenman, a newcomer on the Braves' hurling staff, was hit freely in the first contest, but he settled down after Mansfield forged ahead, 8 to 7, on Missler's homer in the seventh, and whitewashed the Oilers the rest of the way.

Arnold replaced Alex Radoumis going into the fifth inning of the seven-inning nightcap and held the Oilers to one run while his teammates were tallying five markers off Don May, lefthander, to win the game. Radoumis, who is suffering from a back injury, asked to be relieved when he left the hill in the fourth.

WALT MISSLER

Mansfield played spectacular ball yesterday in registering the twin win. In both contests the Braves fell behind midway in the tilts and then rallied to finish on top.

Missler paced the Braves at the plate in the opener with four hits in five official trips to the plate. His total included a home run double and two singles. Gene Woodling, who is hitting the ball at a .393 clip, added three singles to the 17-hit attack.

* * *

The victories, which halted Findlay's seven-game winning streak, enabled the Braves to pick up a game on the leaders and two on Findlay. Howard Beals had a triple and two singles in the second setto.

* * *

After meeting Lima tonight Mansfield goes to Fostoria Tuesday and will meet the Red Birds at the Fairground Wednesday night. Fremont will oppose the Braves before a Findlay night gathering at the Fair park Thursday night.

Two Close Plays at First --- One's Safe, Other's Out

Mazgay, Findlay gardener, who secured seven hits to pace the Oilers' attack at the Fairground yesterday is shown at the left as he beat out an infield hit in the third inning of the second game. He didn't score, however, as Pitcher Abbott forced him at second on the next play. In the picture at the right, Rissinger, Oilers' first baseman is out at first when Shortstop Howard Beals rifled the ball to Harry Seigbert. Mansfield won both games, 8 to 7.

Fullager To Pitch For Wreckers Tonight.

The Mansfield Wrecking company softballers will journey to Columbus today to clash with the Kent State Markets under the floodlights at State Hospital field at 8:30 p. m. Jimmy Fullager, star Mansfield hurler, will toe the rubber for the Mansfield combine.

Reds Lay Out Giants Before Going East

Walters and Derringer Star As Cincy Registers Double Win.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The next time New York Giant batters, pacing the National league in hitting, face the league leading Reds they hope that Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer are out to lunch or that they have solved the mystery of the two fast-ball artists.

* * *

In dropping three games to Cincinnati the Giants did considerable fanning of the air which wasn't due to the midwest's heat wave. They got only five hits in two games—three off Walters and two from Derringer, in the first two encounters.

* * *

The brush with Derringer was the opener of a double header Sunday, which the Reds won 6 to 1 before going on to take the nightcap 4 to 2.

The big Cincinnati hurler retired 21 men in order in the first seven innings and played no favorites, numbering Harry "The Horse" Danning, the league's No. 1 hitter, among the Gotham sluggers who fell before his fast one.

Babe Young, who makes a specialty of spoiling pitchers' chances for no-hit games, stopped Derringer's bid for the hall of fame by clouting a home run in the eighth.

Derringer benched the next five men and it looked as if he might get his third one-hit game of the season until Joe Moore singled in the ninth for the only other New York safety.

Hurler Willis Hudlin, signed recently by the Giants, lasted five innings, until Frank McCormick, Reds' first baseman, homered with the bases loaded and Paul Dean took over.

* * *

In the nightcap Ernie Lombardi marked up his tenth home run of the season and Jim Turner his fifth straight mound victory. Turner allowed eight hits, but kept them scattered.

* * *

The Reds rested today, five games ahead of the second place Dodgers, who they meet Tuesday at Flatbush.

Indians Sweep Series

Hand Boston Double Defeat; Feller, Dobson Stop Red Sox Team.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians return home today for a two-week stand against the eastern clubs, eager to "get 'em in our own yard."

Sunday's double victory over the Boston Red Sox gave the Tribesmen a .500 per cent result for their traditionally tough tour of the eastern ball lots which bumped them out of first place by a game and a half.

Leaders in the new winning streak were Bob Feller who hurled a 3-to-2 victory in the double header's first contest, and Joe Dobson who put himself in the pitching corps' first rank with a 2-to-0 masterpiece.

Feller held the Sox to five hits. Their runs came in on a sixth-inning homer by Shortstop Joe Cronin.

The Indians hammered Jim Bagby and Joe Heving for twice that many hits.

Jeff Heath and Ken Keltner walked in the eighth inning and Ray Mack drove across the tying run with a single. The Tribe put the game away in the ninth on singles by Ben Chapman, Clarence (Soup) Campbell and Hal Trosky.

Umpire Bill McGowan waved Roy Weatherly out of the game in the seventh inning for protesting a strike too vigorously and Campbell replaced him in center field.

The Indians crowded about to pump Dobson's hand after the second game in which he yielded seven hits and bore down in the pinches.

The game was scoreless until the seventh inning when Beau Bell singled and Keltner walked. Ray Mack again came through to drive Bell across and advance Keltner to third. Frankie Pytlak's fly permitted the final tally. Fritz Ostermueller was the losing pitcher.

The Indians will open their home stand tomorrow night as hosts to Philadelphia.

Cop Woodlawn Doubles Title

Moore and Peterson Defeat Slabaugh and Bournes.

Thornton Moore and Warner Peterson copped the Woodlawn Tennis club doubles title Saturday after a gruelling five-set match with W. E. Slabaugh and Lowell Bournes on the Woodlawn court.

The Peterson-Moore combination won 6-2, 4-6, 3-6, 6-3, and 7-5.

The Woodlawn club journeyed to Akron yesterday to play a match with the Akron University club, winning six matches to three.

Slabaugh, Peterson and Bob Keefe won in the singles for the Mansfielders, while the Woodlawn teams of Slabaugh-Bournes, Peterson-Bobby Speer, and Keefe-Arnold swept the slate clean. The Akron club did not win a match in the doubles divisions.

All-Stars Manager Doesn't Believe Rivals Can Stop Softball League Players.

"IF THE Sons of Herman believe they can win the City Softball championship it's alright with me—but don't sell the Mansfield Wrecking company All-Stars short."

"I'll have one of the strongest teams that ever played a contest in Mansfield—and I wouldn't be surprised if we walked off with the first three games of the series." These are the statements Nick Wagner, All-Star manager, made today.

The undefeated Sons of Herman will square off against an All-Star combine selected by Mansfield fans and players from the four Y. M. C. A. softball leagues in a series which will start Thursday, Aug. 2, 5, 6, and 7.

"Personally, I don't think the Herman outfit is as tough as they are reported to be," Wagner stated, "and when they face the pitching of the leading hurlers in the circuits it'll be a different story."

Manager Frank Beeber, pilot of the crack Herman club, isn't worried about the All-Stars and believes his team will finish on top.

Mansfield fans have until midnight, Saturday, July 27, to cast their votes (a ballot may be found elsewhere on this page) and must send the ballots to Dave Lapine in care of the Mansfield Wrecking company, 585 North Main street. The ballots may be printed in pencil or typewritten.

Votes have been pouring in and Lapine, assisted by Charles Martin of The News-Journal will tabulate the votes at the half-way mark and the totals will be published in Thursday's News-Journal to show the fans how their favorite player is doing in the race for a position on the squad.

SEMI-PROS ENTER THIRD ROUND OF TOURNAMENT

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)— Third round games continued today in the Ohio semi-pro baseball tournament but fans little expected a duplication of last night's spectacular triple play.

The Dayton Eastern A. C. team performed the triple killing in the second inning of a game with Lima Superior Body, but the trick failed to keep Lima from winning, 5 to 3. With three Lima runners on base, First Baseman Knepple snagged Grandy's line drive, stepped on first and whipped the ball to second baseman Loren Smith for three outs.

West Coaster Bid For Title

5 Former Winners Entered In Publinks Tourney.

DETROIT—(AP)—The headliners of America's pay-as-you-play golfers, conceding nothing to anyone in scoring ability, open the 19th annual public links championship here today with five former winners in the field.

* * *

A total of 192 linksmen, survivors of a record entry of 2,601 that played in 40 sectional tests, tees off today on the first half of the 36-hole qualifying round. The low 64 scorers in the two-day test will earn places in the match play which starts Wednesday.

* * *

Defending champion is husky Andrew Szwedko, Pittsburgh steel worker. Other former winners in the field are Carl F. Kauffmann, also of Pittsburgh, only three-time winner with victories in 1927, 1928 and 1929; Charles Ferrera of San Francisco, 1931 and 1933 champion; David A. Mitchell of Atlanta, the 1934 titlist, and Al Leach of Cleveland, 1938 champion.

* * *

Most of the fireworks of the practice rounds at the flat 6,580-yard Rackham municipal course was furnished by entrants from the far west and Hawaii.

* * *

Yesterday Louis Jennings of Portland, Ore., the Oregon amateur champion, toured the course in 67, four better than par and one shot above the course record of 66 established last week by Smiley Quick of Los Angeles, the southern California amateur king.

Wings Get Within Game of 4th Place

DAYTON —(AP)— The revived Dayton Wings soared within a game of fourth place in their flight from the Mid-Atlantic league cellar today after silencing the Charleston Senators twice Sunday, 1 to 0 and 13 to 5.

* * *

Akron edged it a 5 to 4 victory over Youngstown in a seven-inning second game yesterday after dropping the third straight to the Browns, 9 to 7, in the opener.

* * *

Outfielder Marvin Garne of Canton made a single, double, triple and homer to pace the Terriers to an 11 to 2 triumph over Portsmouth. Rudd limited the Red Birds to three hits, one a homer by Manager Alston.

LIMA PISTOL SHOOTER CARRIES OFF CROWN

DAYTON —(AP)— The state championship and most of the other awards in Ohio's pistol matches were carried home today by R. S. Marshall of Lima.

Taking the crown from Roy Bracken of Columbus by scoring 570 out of a possible 600, the Lima crackshot went on to win the state's grand aggregate title with a score of 1,577 out of 1,800. Bracken won the .38 caliber slow fire matches.

HERMANS DIDN'T PLAY

Manager Frank Beeber's undefeated Sons of Herman didn't get an opportunity to mark up their 13th win of the season yesterday. The club was scheduled to meet Sycamore at Liberty park, but the Sycamore outfit failed to show up.

Pen Softballers Plan Revenge

COLUMBUS—(AP)—"Henderson's Hurricanes," Ohio penitentiary softball stars, were convinced and determined today that their hour of greatness merely was postponed by Saturday's 3-to-1 loss to "Amrine's Angels," their former buddies from the London prison farm.

The two teams tangle again next Saturday, and the Saturday after that, in the first series ever played between the two institutions.

The 1,600 convicts attending the game at O. Henry field in the prison had little to cheer about after the first inning when their favorites scored their only run, but they received free lemonade. The teams derive their names from Warden Frank D. Henderson of the pentitentiary and Supt. W. F. Amrine of the prison farm.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(U P)—The more I see of the people who bet on the horses around New York City under the new pari-mutuel system, the more I wonder why someone doesn't open a track for mule racing, or goat racing, or even cat, chicken, or cow racing.

* * *

The finish of the race is the thing to New Yorkers, not the race itself, or even what is racing in the race. One proof of this is that on days when the racing cards have had little or nothing to offer in the way of good horses, the play in the pari-mutuels has been as great as at many tracks when the real thoroughbreds of the country were matched against one another.

* * *

New Yorkers just plain everyday like to bet They have put up with the most terrible inconveniences in order to risk their money. There isn't a track around New York that is able to comfortably handle the crowds. Half of the bettors can't see any part of the race. They have to stand in weary lines to get bets down or collect money, and even the transportation to the tracks is enough to frazzle the nerves of a bargain basement habitue

A good guess is that nine-tenths of the people who play the horses around here don't know one thing about racing, and furthermore don't care The odds they establish through the totalizator, day in and day out, are the most ridiculous you'll find anywhere in the country Ninety per cent of the money is bet without rhyme or reason They pick horses by the Chinese system, the hat-pin system, the pretty name system, the hunch system, the my-barber-told-me-system and scores of others just as futile

* * *

It has been suggested that metropolitan tracks owe their tremendous patronage to the fact that tens of thousands of New Yorkers are curious to find out what a horse looks like without a traffic policeman riding him, or without a milk-wagon behind him.

* * *

They know nothing about the various stables, or the jockeys, or the blood lines, or the trainers, or the distances, or the times, or the past performances, or any of the things that are important to a true horse lover There is no more kinship between a crowd at Churchill Downs, say, and one at Empire City or Aqueduct, than there is between Uncle Sam and Aunt Jemima

Nick's Split Twin Bill

Chalk Up Seventh Straight But Lose Eighth.

Nick's Place softball combination chalked up its seventh straight victory, 2 to 0, but was edged out of its eighth straight by losing 5 to 4 as the Mansfielders tangled with the Galion softball club in a doubleheader at Galion yesterday

* * *

Warren Gross, Nick ace hurler, held the Galionites to five hits and no runs in the first game, while Ness, Galion hurler, held the Mansfield club to six hits.

* * *

Nick's Place's two runs came in the sixth inning when B Metz, Nick rightfielder, smashed out a double with Contra and Stone on the sacks. The Galion team failed to score.

Paul Appleman toed the rubber for the Nick's club in the second tilt, allowing six hits. The game went into the eighth inning tied up but Columbus, Galion first sacker, scored from first on Sulser's double to score the winning run for the Galion club.

Tigers Aren't Great—But They Are Hot!

By JUDSON BAILEY
AP Sports Writer.

THE Detroit Tigers may not be a perfect ball club, but they're a red hot one, and that's what it looks like the American league is going to pay off on.

* * *

It's still a long haul to the finish line, but the Tigers have just succeeded in winning five consecutive contests from the world champion New York Yankees and the rich Red Sox of Boston.

The Yankees themselves were as warm as the weather until the Tigers came to town and turned on some real heat Detroit scored four runs in the ninth inning to win the first game of a doubleheader yesterday 4-3 and then battled back again to take the nightcap 3-2

It was a stirring show in which 68,590 fans participated, staging one of the worst exhibitions of rowdyism the grim, grey walls of Yankee stadium ever have witnessed. They threw pop bottles, fruit and other missiles at Umpire Joe Rue in the second game after he ruled a line by Tom Henrich landed foul and they didn't stop the demonstration until a detachment of city police stationed themselves at strategic spots throughout the stands.

The Cleveland Indians, who were crushed in their series at New York, completed a sweep of a three-game stand in Boston by whipping the Red Sox 3-2 and 2-0 in a twin bill

In the National league the Cincinnati Reds mopped up the New York Giants 6-1 and 4-2 to make their score 20 victories in the last 25 games, certainly a championship race

The Brooklyn Dodgers gave ground again by dividing a doubleheader with the St Louis Cardinals The Dodgers captured the opener 3-1 but in the second affair Enos Slaughter punched out two round trip tickets off Luke Hamlin, one with two on, to lead the way to a 5-2 triumph.

The Pittsburgh Pirates again demoralized the Boston Bees sweeping a bargain bill 5-3 and 16-2 on top of Saturday's 17-6 bombardment Manager Frank Frisch substituted a "second team" in the midst of the second game to rest his veterans from the heat

The Chicago Cubs and the Philadelphia Phillies split two games, the tail-enders copping the first 8-2 on Hugh Mulcahy's six-hit hurling and Chicago coming back to win the second 8-5 with a 15-hit offensive.

The Chicago White Sox finished off a sweep of their series with the Philadelphia Athletics with 10-8 and 7-2 verdicts in a couple of free-swinging affairs

* * *

The St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators divided two games, George McQuinn and Joe Grace hit home runs as the Browns pounded out an 8-4 decision in the first game and McQuinn hit a three-run homer as St. Louis outslugged the Senators in the nightcap, but lost, 5-4.

* * *

Dutch Leonard, knuckleball ace of the Senators, burst a blood vessel in his hand in the first game and had to be relieved.

Joe Mayer Paces Golfers With '68' At Possum Run

Joe Mayer proved himself to be Mansfield's leading golfer again over the week-end by shooting the lowest score in the city—a 68 at Possum Run yesterday.

* * *

However, he was given plenty of competition by the Kushin brothers, Carl and Al, and Pete Linster. Both the Kushins turned in 70 cards and Pete Linster a 71 at the Possum links.

* * *

Frank Cipris was also "up among 'em" with a 73, while Jim Stout, Nick Linster, Hugh Ferguson and Charles Snyder strolled in the "70" bracket.

Stout copped a 74, Nick Linster a 75, Ferguson a 75, and Snyder a 76

At Westbrook M. D. Ward, jr., led the field with a 78 for the tough par 72 course, with T. T. Haley giving him a run for his money with a 79.

Other scores at Westbrook were: E. H Brown, Judge Kalbfleisch and Ed Eisenberger with 82's, Howard Sotzen, 85, W. J Spreng, 87, Dr. Frank Maxwell, 88; and E. W Kerns 92.

Thelma Linster, Partner Win Exhibition Match at Akron

MORE than 200 spectators lined the fairways at the Firestone Country club course at Akron yesterday to watch Thelma Linster of Mansfield and Helen Detwieler of Washington, D. C. defeat Dorothy Gardner of Steubenville and Eva Shorb of Massillon five and four in a low-ball exhibition match.

Heroes and Goats

(By International News Service)

THE HEROES—Joe Gallagher of the Dodgers who hit a ninth inning homer to beat the Cardinals in the first game of a double header Enos Slaughter who accounted for all the Cardinals runs as they won the nightcap Paul Derringer and Jim Turner who pitched the Reds to a double victory over the Giants to add to Reds advantage in pennant race

THE GOATS—Martin Brouer who shut out the Tigers for eight innings only to be knocked out of the box in the ninth when the Yankees lost opener of double header Alex Carrasquel who relieved Dutch Leonard and was charged with loss of game as Senators bowed in opener of twin bill to St Louis Browns

PROS TO BATTLE

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Southern and southeastern Ohio golf pros were to battle it out today over the tough Columbus Country club course for two places in the National P G A tourney. The qualifying play will be over the 36-hole route

Columbus Semi-Pro Real Vet Of Game, is 48 Years Old

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Bits of this and that from here and there in Buckeye sportsdom:

Tom O'Malley, catcher for the Columbus Bolt Works semi-pro baseball team, is a real veteran of the diamond game. The Columbus star is 48 years old, is the father of 12 children, and has been playing semi-pro baseball for more than 30 years.

Another pot of gold for Ohio's professional golfers loomed today as the Mahoning Country club of Girard announced a $500 open tournament for Aug 18 and 19. A pro-amateur will be held the opening day (Sunday) with a 36-hole medal test on Monday for the heavy dough They're calling it the first Mahoning Valley open golf championship, and one and all are invited.

Instead of rotating the Ohio open golf tournament around the state as has been the custom, the P. G A group has decided to award the event to the highest bidder in the future The boys are thinking of that $2500 prize list put up at Dayton last year. The usual awards run around $500 and most of that amount comes from the entry fees

The national professional football league's referees umpires, field judges and head linesmen are going to school next week-end at Cleveland Forty of the loop's outstanding whistle blowers have been invited to hear Hugh Ray of Chicago, the league's rules adviser, interpret the regulations for 1940's campaign The league's executive committee for the first time in history, will assign officials this year.

Joe Neville, Delaware, O., lawyer and sportsman, is sorry he mixed politics with harness racing. Joe attended the Democratic convention at Chicago last week, and missed the biggest thrill of his life. His "Milestone," three year-old Hambletonian candidate, trotted a heat in 2:05¾ at Goshen, N. Y., to become the year's first world champion. The heat cracked the world gelding record of 2:06¼ set a few years ago by Uncle Walt.

The years outstanding golf tournament—the Associated Press staff event, takes place July 28 at the Ohio State University course Staff members from Columbus, Cincinnati and Cleveland and guests from Mansfield, Lorain and other points will participate in the 18-hole event. Scores under 100, if any, will be regarded as prima facie evidence of professionalism and barred from the prize list, if any.

Lassies Lose Two Games

Merchants Drop First, 6-4, Second 13-0.

Mansfields Merchant girls fell victims twice to the superlative pitching and long range batting of the Cecil Township Girls of Lawrencetown, Pa yesterday at North Lake park as the visitors downed the Merchants 6 to 4 in the first contest and 13 to 0 in the second

The first game developed into a pitching duel between Frances Clark of the Mansfielders and Blazie of the Pennsylvania team, with Clark allowing eight hits and Blazie six

The Cecil girls jumped into the lead in the first inning by pushing across two runs in the first Then Mansfield tied it up with two in the second frame but the visitors came back with two more in the third to take the lead

Mansfield tied it up again in the fourth by pushing over two markers then relinquished the tie in the Cecil half of the fourth when the Township girls pushed over two runs. That ended the scoring in the first game.

Branecki hurled the second tilt for the visitors allowing the Mansfielders five hits and no runs. Blank hurled for the Merchants permitting 14 hits and 13 runs Bessemer, Merchant catcher, got three hits out of three trips to account for three of the Merchants' five hits.

MY SUN, MY SUN

CHAPEL HILL, N C —(AP)—Dr Karl H. Fessler, University of North Carolina astronomer, believes there is a direct connection between severe winters and sun spots. Last winter the sun spots were especially active, more so than in any year since 1928, also a cold period Dr. Fessler says that during the severe winter of 1917, notable for the great flu epidemic, astronomers recorded eccentric behavior on the sun's surface.

PAM— Miracle! By A. W. Brewerton

AND HOW DID YOU COME TO FALL, MY DEAR?
I SLIPPED ON A RUG, DOCTOR — LOST MY BALANCE!
DOCTOR BOOTH MAKES A CAREFUL EXAMINATION — PUTS PAM THROUGH A NUMBER OF TESTS — AND THEN ---
OH, DOCTOR, IS THERE — IS THERE ANY DANGER I'LL — I'LL BE — BE BLIND AGAIN? — THIS WONT LAST?
MY DEAR YOUNG LADY ---
--- YOUR TROUBLES ARE OVER! — YOUR VISION IS AS GOOD AS IT EVER WAS, AND WILL STAY THAT WAY! I SAID ONCE IF YOU EVER SAW AGAIN IT WOULD BE A MIRACLE! THAT MIRACLE HAS HAPPENED! THE BLOW ON YOUR HEAD JARRED LOOSE THAT CLOT — SPECK — WHATEVER IT WAS — RELIEVED THE PRESSURE! — NATURE HAS DONE WHAT SCIENCE DID NOT DARE TO ATTEMPT!
So PAM IS HER NORMAL SELF AGAIN!
WAS THAT MIRACLE AN ANSWER TO THE WIDOW'S PRAYERS?

EARLY START

Now It Looks Like the Persians Knew About Flame Throwing.

NEW YORK (AP) - Tanks and flame-throwers may have been, basically, a Persian idea according to interpretations of an early 15th century painting on display at the Persian Exhibition.

It shows a curious, huge four-wheeled self-propelled vehicle daring across a rocky terrain to hard-to-reach spots. It shoots masses of flame far ahead. The painting was made when Persia had been subject to many disastrous wars.

APATHY KEEPS FIRM GRIP ON STOCK MARKET

Guessing on European War Takes Traders' Time But Not Money.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK Inertia continued to grip the stock market today as guessing on the next European war move tended to obscure domestic business and political news.

Among resistant stocks were Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Air Reduction, General Electric, Anaconda and Great Northern.

Bonds and commodities did little either way.

Opinions varied regarding home economic prospects One commission house analyst had this to say:

"A fall in exports ordinarily is not an important factor in the business outlook of this country, but it is now because exports have been unusually high in recent months due to war orders and because the decline may be accompanied by a large inventory liquidation."

Boardrooms scanned the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said moderate slackening of new orders for certain metal products is without important effect on backlogs. The publication believed improved steel demand from several sources was likely in coming weeks.

The National Lumber Manufacturers association estimated lumber production for the week ended July 13 at 48 per cent above the preceding week.

British Prepare 'No' Reply to Hitler Offer; Planes Raid English Cities.

This morning the admiralty reported the sinking, without loss of life, of the 1,360-ton destroyer Brazen, which was damaged in an air attack and sank while being towed to port.

The German high command said a British cruiser and two destroyers were damaged in air raids Saturday and the important port of Newcastle and south-central English industrial centers were heavily bombed

With the west thus engaged, the expansion of Soviet Russia's strategic position in the Baltic continued as Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, independent republics since 1918 petitioned for union with Russia.

Rumania also was reported to have received a Russian "suggestion" that she form a "popular front" government—such as those established in the Baltic countries after the Red army moved in.

Rumania's King Carol, who already has yielded to Russia the great area of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina to avoid a fight, was reported to have asked Germany and Italy desperately to advise him in this latest dilemma.

Italy reported week-end air raids on Malta, Kenya colony, British Somaliland and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

The Italian high command, harking back once more to the Italian-British naval battles in the Mediterranean, July 8-13, insisted it now has "positive information" that three British warships—in addition to the 42,100-ton battle cruiser Hood and the aircraft carrier Ark Royal—were "damaged severely" and suffered "heavy crew losses."

The British admiralty has officially denied any such casualties, either to ships or men.

As a token of "Axis friendship," Hitler presented Premier Mussolini an armored train to protect him from air attacks in his travels.

Japanese Emperor Approves Cabinet

TOKYO—(INS)—Emperor Hirohito today approved the new cabinet chosen by Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye to lead Japan into closer collaboration with the Rome-Berlin axis.

Konoye and his colleagues visited the imperial palace to receive the emperor's sanction. The premier took over the added duties of the agricultural ministry temporarily. Rokuzo Takebe was named director of the Manchukuo affairs board.

Extension of controlled economy to create a super-defense system and establish greater security for the Japanese people appeared to be the chief aim of the new regime, which may also tend to closer collaboration with the Rome-Berlin axis.

$5 Cabin Cruiser Costing Railroad Money on Voyages

PEEKSKILL, N Y (AP) Raymond Douglas' voyages into the Hudson river in a $5 cabin cruiser were a part of his vacation routine today to the considerable annoyance of the New York Central railroad

Douglas is the intrepid yachtsman who keeps his craft in nearby Annsville creek, and everytime he heads into the Hudson the railroad has to open the drawbridge which spans the creek.

The catch is that the bridge in recent years has been made into a semi-permanent structure. It takes a 30-man section gang, at a cost of roughly $125, to unlimber the span—but the road is obliged by law to open up.

Douglas, a New York city building superintendent, made his first excursion a week ago. Yesterday he sailed forth again and, since he's on vacation, he plans more cruises.

Miss Tucker was riding in a car driven by Frank Tucker, and Gray was a passenger in Johnson's car.

Two Cleveland men escaped injury at 10 a. m. yesterday on route 42, three miles west of Ashland, when the truck in which they were riding ran into a ditch after catching fire.

The truck, driven by Homer Ford, was loaded with painter's equipment, including 10 gallons of turpentine and 10 gallons of gasoline. Ford told sheriff's officials that the truck left the highway, turned over in a ditch and was destroyed by the flames The fire started in the bed of the truck, Ford said. Ford told authorities that he and a passenger, whose name was not learned, escaped injury

Donald Clark, 201 Euclid avenue, Mansfield, escaped injury when his car was struck by a hit-skip driver at 10:15 p. m. yesterday on route 13 at the junction of the Airport road. Clark told highway patrolmen the driver of the other car failed to stop.

HAVANA WAITS HULL ADDRESS

Delegates Look to U. S. For Concrete Measures on Economy, Defense.

aside for German, Italian, Japanese and Spanish diplomats at the inaugural session, they remained empty.

Some quarters interpreted this as evidence the four nations were acting in accord on all matters affecting their relations with the Americas.

The agenda facing the delegates was described as one of the broadest ever tackled by a Pan American conference and many of those present considered that its very broadness made it susceptible to pitfalls.

The problems to be discussed ranged over this field

1. Examination of western hemisphere neutrality in the light of such unpredicted recent developments as the capitulation of Holland, Belgium and France to German armed forces.

2. The attitude of the Americas toward western hemisphere possessions of conquered European nations.

3 "Fifth column" activities in the Americas — their extent and possible precautionary measures to be taken.

4 Re-settlement of refugees, prisoners and other victims of war.

5 Economic co-operation — on what possibilities exist for employing United States capital to mutual advantage in helping Latin American states from being drawn into the barter system of totalitarian powers

Secretary Hull conferred individually with the heads of various delegations immediately after his arrival yesterday, and it was reported these talks had disclosed a strong desire for concrete action to combat any possible menace to continental security and internal regimes in the Americas.

Fear was expressed by some, however, that Argentina might prove a stumbling block to the adoption of a solid front on both defense and economic questions. Argentine delegates failed to appear for pre-convention discussions but arrived today.

It was announced, meanwhile, from San Jose, Costa Rico, that the German legation there had withdrawn its note of two weeks ago expressing hope the Central American states would do nothing "unneutral" at the conference

Roosevelt Asks $500,000,000 to Aid Latin America

URGES BOOST FOR LENDING TO NEIGHBORS

Special Message to Congress Coincides With Havana Conference.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt asked congress today to increase the lending power of the Export-Import bank by $500,000,000 so that it might be "of greater assistance to our neighbors south of the Rio Grande."

In a special message coincident with the Pan-American conference at Havana, Mr. Roosevelt said that war in Europe was preventing the flow of surplus products from the western hemisphere to their normal markets.

"It is to be hoped," he said, "that before another year world trade can be re-established, but, pending this adjustment, we in the United States should join with the people of the other republics of the western hemisphere in meeting their problems. I call the attention of congress to the fact that by helping our neighbors we will be helping ourselves.

"It is in the interests of the producers of our country, as well as in the interests of producers of other American countries, that there shall not be a disorganized or cut throat market in those commodities which we all export.

"No sensible person would advocate an attempt to prevent the normal exchange of commodities between other continents and the Americas, but what can and should be done is to prevent excessive fluctuation caused by distressed selling resulting from temporary interruption in the flow of trade, or the fact that there has not yet been re-established a system of free exchange. Unless exporting companies are able to assist their nationals, they will be forced to bargain as best they can."

RITES PLANNED FOR FATHER OF GALION WOMAN

Killed in Indiana Traffic Crash, Returning From Chicago Convention.

GALION—Funeral services will be held at Kensington, Maryland, Tuesday at 10 a. m. for Jacob H. Taylor, 60, of Kensington, father of Mrs. Walter S. Goshorn of Galion.

Mr. Taylor was instantly killed Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock in an automobile accident near Ligonier, Indiana, when he was returning from the Democratic National convention in Chicago. Reports coming to Galion stated that the car driven by Mr. Taylor skidded on the shoulder of the road and swerved to the right, turning over twice. Death resulted from a skull fracture.

Another occupant of the car, Mrs. Sarah Williams, 40, Washington, D. C., associated with Mr. Taylor in the National Council for the Prevention of War, was a passenger in the car and received minor injuries.

On his way to the convention, Mr. Taylor had stopped in Galion a week ago Thursday, and had planned a short visit here on his way home. He had attended the convention in the interest of obtaining a strong anti-war plank in the Democratic platform as a representative of the National Council of which he was associate secretary.

Mrs. Goshorn and her sister, Sara Taylor, who had been visiting in Galion, left immediately for Kensington. Mrs. Goshorn's husband, editor of the Galion Inquirer, also left for Kensington.

Born on a farm near Rogers, Ohio, Taylor was graduated from Hiram college. He was a newspaper man, having edited a paper in Wilson Creek, Washington, and then spending most of his life as managing editor of the National Service Syndicate in Washington. Before the World war he was associated with the Anti-Saloon league at Westerville, Ohio. Later he served in France during the war. About 20 years ago he moved his family to Washington when he became private secretary to Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington.

Surviving are his widow and the following children: Mrs. Walter S. Goshorn of Galion; Sara Taylor at home; Mrs. R. T. Reynolds of Houston, Texas, and a son, Reed F. Taylor at home.

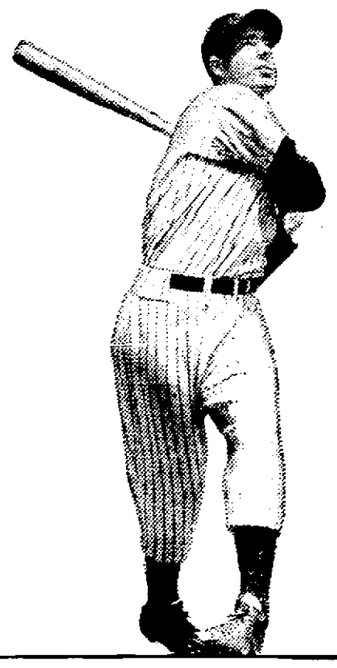
THEY'VE GOT THOSE EXTRAS THAT WIN BALL GAMES

Yes, it's the extras that carried Joe DiMaggio, "Bucky" Walters, and George Case to the top. The extras of slower burning won them to Camel cigarettes



HE STEPS UP to the plate, and he looks like most any other ball player. But when that bat of his comes crashing through—man, look out! It may be the ball game. Experts call him one of the greatest natural hitters in the game. Where...how he gets all that extra power into his bat, even Joe DiMaggio himself can't say. But you can easily see below how he gets the extras in his cigarette. "I smoke Camels for extra mildness and extra flavor," says Joe.

JOE DI MAGGIO — He topped both major leagues in batting last season

NO, "Bucky" Walters has no magic pitch. The magic's in his extra pitching sense—the extra degree of control. It shows in a change of pace that shackles the mightiest of bats. Those are the extras in his pitching. In his cigarette, "Bucky" will tell you: "Extra mildness and extra coolness win with me. So I smoke slower-burning Camels." Yes, Camel's costlier tobaccos and slower way of burning mean extra pleasure—and extra smoking (see below, left).

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, JULY 22, 1940.

We haven't any draft in this country yet, except for presidents.

An American propagandist demands a system of "thirty hours' work for forty hours' pay" when in most other countries the rule is about 60 hours' work for 20 hours' pay.

No Time for Partisan Bickering

CANDIDATES of both major political parties will do well to keep in mind that, at the moment, there is only one outstanding issue before the American people—that of national defense. It is only after the war against the totalitarian powers has been won that the world can be made "safe for democracy" for a long time to come. And until the world has been made safe against the threat of aggressive warfare by totalitarian dictators there can be no appreciable progress toward eventual permanent peace.

When present conflicts have finally been ended in the right way, so that the peoples of the earth may pursue their free way to their desired development, then again the problems of internal and domestic progress will take on the importance which is rightfully theirs.

But if the war should be lost to the slave-drivers, there would not be any internal problems to worry about.

It is inconceivable to any American that his country should go the way of France. But not so long ago it was inconceivable to Frenchmen that it could happen to them. If Britain should go, Canada would be next. The vast unprotected border of which both our countries have been so proud would become a danger indeed. So, too, would Nazi domination of Mexico make that border a great peril.

That is the situation that confronts the United States of America and becomes the direct concern of every citizen. Republicans and Democrats alike love and honor their land and its ideals. Seen in the light of defense against a national peril they differ only on details of method.

This is not a time for fiddling with petty partisan differences—it is a time when all thoughts should be directed toward saving America.

Biggest Fifth Column

FRANCE is doomed to slave for the conqueror," says Henri Bernstein, famous French dramatist, now in this country. "She is paying the price of long demoralization and betrayal."

It seems to be the supreme example, so far, of "fifth column" activity. France, with a great army and strong defenses, surrendered within a fortnight. It would offer fine material, he says, for a Shakespearean play.

"I never thought a country could be surrendered to the enemy in such crude, cynical fashion," he adds. "And I am not speaking now of the men in power. They cannot do anything else but what they are doing, after having signed the kind of armistice imposed by Germany."

Other nations, including our own, he suggests, should take to heart this lesson of the fifth column. "It is a danger that cannot possibly be overestimated."

Nazi Threat

NAZI newspapers have the courage of their insolence. Snarling at "dollar imperialism" and suggesting South America's "interests in taking up economic relations again with the victor states," the Deutsche Algemeine Zeitung says:

"If the Democratic convention in Chicago and the Havana Conference place Britain before America, then responsible men there will not in any case forget that France's fate was sealed in six weeks. There is still more than a quarter of a year before the presidential election in the United States. In the meantime the decision in Europe will not be long in coming."

Americans, however, must give the freebooting Nazi government credit for frankness in showing its hand. It helps preparedness on this side of the Atlantic.

British Tea

WHEN the British nation cuts down its per capita tea consumption to two ounces a week, which means only about 25 cups, the situation is serious. True, that is far more than the Germans have. But the Germans do not consider tea so important, and they are accustomed by this time to a great economic blockade, and are reconciled to it for the sake of a great conquest, after which they are to have plenty of everything.

Other things, too, are being severely rationed in England, including bacon and cooking fats. Such procedure may indicate either actual scarcity or hoarding against a time of encirclement and seige. Perhaps both. Anyway, it looks as if English belts will be drawn considerably tighter before the emergency is over.

World Fashion Hub

THERE is no sartorial fashion worth mentioning under the swastika. And with France dominated by that symbol, fashions are scheduled to move from France to America. Such is the opinion, anyway, of fashion experts who talked it over in New York recently.

To do this, according to Miss Mary Lewis and Mme Helene Lyolene, "major adjustments must be made to bring the mass production methods to which the United States is geared" into the sphere of creative efforts. The experts think we shall have a boost from the arrival of the Duchess of Windsor, "one of the few women capable of influencing the fashion world," in the Bahamas almost next door.

So here's a real job for Wallis. And with her to guide us in the world of fashion, which seems destined to make its last stand in America, it won't matter so much that the duke gave up his throne.

Little Guests

AS ENGLISH CHILDREN are sent to the United States for the duration of the war to dodge the invaders' bombs, there is some question as to what they should be called. "Evacuees" is a horrible and unnecessary word. "Refugee children" is exact, but it also calls up unpleasant thoughts. Back of the entire idea is a great desire to have the children live as far as possible pleasant and normal lives in the countries to which they go.

Canada is now calling them "guest children." It is a happy term, which in our mind should be used for the evacuees coming to our country, as we hope they may soon be doing in large numbers.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK.—Sisters under the skin. . . . You've heard that one. . . . All women are sisters under the skin. . . . They merely move in different ways of life, and think different thoughts. . . . Take those two women in New York today, both of whom were in the headlines. . . . Paulette Goddard was one. . . . I am sure she had never heard of Louise Nicosia though Louise Nicosia probably knew all about Paulette Goddard.

Their names were sifted together today on the same pages of the metropolitan press. Miss Goddard had come east by plane, and had dined at the fashionable Colony club wearing a thing on her arms that was described as "a field of gems." You couldn't see the metal for the diamonds. And she wore an orchid pinned to her curls.

Three miles away Louise Nicosia carefully shut the door of her Bronx apartment. Then she lowered all the windows, and crammed sheeting under the door and plugged up the keyholes, although it was hot in there, even with the windows open. Then she gathered together her six little children and turned on the gas. . . . They found all seven of them, with the gas jets wide open, a little later. . . . They also found a note that Louise Nicosia had left, just a little scrap of paper on which she had written, "I am Disgusted With Life." But she alone survived.

Just another one of those things, I suppose, that novelists and dramatists like to play around with. . . . But suppose, just suppose that in some way, Louise Nicosia had gone to Paulette Goddard's home when she was a little girl, and Paulette Goddard had gone to Louise Nicosia's home, and they had been brought up that way. . . .

Well, who knows?

THIS morning the cop on the corner, talking about the turn of the war, said, "Times change, don't they?"

"You said it, brother," we said.

One day last May we stood on a rocky cove in a New York lake and caught eight big black bass in less than an hour. All these fish were returned unharmed to the water, as the season hadn't opened and we didn't want to get lynched by any warden's posse that might happen along.

But we marked down the cove, and the other day, when the season opened, we went back. You guessed it. Not only were we skunked—we didn't even get a strike. "Caint understand it," said the fellef who rented us our boat. "When it's legal, tain't no use to try, but when tain't, there they are."

FRANK READICK is a man who can adapt himself to changing situations. He does it with his voice, for he is an actor, and actors do not eat regularly unless their voices are under control.

On a recent afternoon Mr. Readick's voice floated gently over a microphone where numerous auditions were being held for a man to play the part of a henpecked husband in "Meet Mr. Meek," a radio show.

When Dick Marvin, who was listening to the proceedings, heard this voice he almost fell out of his chair. He knew Readick and recognized his voice as one that once had been the terror of the airways, "The Shadow."

This Is Ohio

Value of the manufactured products of Ohio gave it high rank among the states in the Union. While actually ranking fifth among the states in total value of all products manufactured, Ohio is a close contender with Illinois and Michigan for third or fourth place with New York and Pennsylvania taking the two top berths.

In 1935 the total value of Ohio manufactured products was $3,685,000,000, only $150,000,000 less than fourth place Illinois but more than a billion above the next ranking state, New Jersey.

U.S. Shuns Aiding Reds to Curb Japs

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

Official Washington isn't taking at all enthusiastically to the Foreign Policy association's suggestion of some sort of an understanding between the United States and Russia to curb Japan on the Asiatic mainland and to safeguard islands in Asiatic waters against a threatened Japanese seizure.

American officialdom is ready enough to admit that it thinks the Japs need curbing, but it doesn't fancy the idea of any entangling international bargain, and least of all a bargain involving this country with Russia.

Nevertheless, the Foreign Policy association argues very cogently that Russia is the one and only country which has not only a prime interest in putting brakes upon Japanese ambitions but also, in all probability, the capacity just now to lend a fairly efficient hand toward such an end's accomplishment.

The association has, to be sure, no official status. It's purely a private organization. However, it does possess a first-rate investigating service, and its reports are listened to although, in the present case, not always altogether acquiescently. Still, it isn't entirely ignored even now. Its recommendation at least is under discussion.

Its analysis don't contend that Soviet Russia ordinarily can class as a suitable collaborator with Uncle Samuel. Their only point is that, at this particular juncture, it's a convenient and natural one. All they advocate is temporary co-operation.

Chronically Jealous.

For obvious reasons Japan and Russia are chronically jealous of one another—actually at war part of the time; always at least on the ragged edge of it.

Now, if the mikado should gain complete control of China, Russia's danger immediately would become imminent. The United States wouldn't like it, but it simply would be dreadful for the Russians.

Consequently, the latter are doing their best to supply the Chinese with war materials, to go on fighting. It's inconvenient, though. Transportation's inadequate. If the Russians could get so much as moral support from America, they'd be glad of it.

Today, under cover of the European situation, the Japs seem about ready to grab French Indo-China and British Hongkong. Indirectly, that also will be bad for Russia. It will be worse for Britain and France, to lose their colonies, but they can't do anything about it; they already are swamped in Europe. It will be bad for America, too, since we don't want the Japs to become too super-predominant on their side of the Pacific; we've got interests there also.

Next thing, if he pre-empts all the eastern Asiatic mainland, it's foreseen that the mikado will go after the Dutch East Indies (whence we get our tin and rubber), the Philippines, maybe Australia and New Zealand, possibly India, and (who knows?) perhaps, after awhile, Hawaii.

Tokio's Rather Sassy.

It goes almost without saying that it will pay Uncle Sam to nip such a program in the bud. Secretary Hull already has hinted as much to Tokio, which has been rather sassy in its rejoinder.

So the question arises:

Suppose we have to make quite a formidable show of strength against Nippon? What support will we get?

It's a miracle that China's hung on as long as it has. Britain's groggy. France is licked. Germany and Italy are supposed to have said to the Japs, "Take whatever you like in the Orient."

But Russia's stake against the Japs is vital. The Soviets, it's true, seem rather incompetent fighters. Still they have the numbers and resources to keep the Japs considerably preoccupied, threatening them from Siberia and out of China. They can't be much help at sea, but they're a factor to the landward. Comrade Stalin does, indeed, have a sort of a pact with Herr Hitler, but no diplomat believes that the former cares a hoot for it.

The Foreign Policy association's thesis, then, is:

"Assume that we turn hard-boiled toward the Japs? Won't it worry 'em to realize that the Russians are due to jump on their backs the minute they tell us to go to hades?"

The association doesn't express itself quite like this, but that's its essence.

Health and Diet

Dark Glasses Save Eyes From Glare.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What is the health value of dark glasses?

* * *

ALL EYES except those that are blind and useless are sensitive to light and especially glare. Over-sensitiveness to light usually is dependent on some form of eyestrain.

In bright summer sunlight the eyes are assaulted by glare coming from all directions. It is reflected from the pavement, the water and the sand, and comes towards the retina from below, adding to the direct diffused light from the sky and air. In automobile driving this reflected glare is particularly trying.

We have now an almost perfect sun glass made from polaroid, a film-like material containing countless needle-like minute crystals arranged parallel to each other. A thin sheet of this is laminated between two glasses to make lenses. It is now possible also to obtain sun glasses which can be fitted for astigmatism and relieve eyestrain. Also fitted with adaptation for strong or weak sunlight.

They should be used by all automobile tourists, as well as fishermen for sailing and boating.

Is ice water deleterious to digestion or nutrition?

* * *

In this country most people are conditioned to drink water much colder than the normal temperature of the body. The sensation of cold is pleasant and instantly satisfies the sensation of thirst which is its only real disadvantage. Tepid water really satisfies thirst — restores water balance — better because we drink more of it. Cold water slows down digestion for a few minutes, but this is of little significance as it does not influence digestion in the long run. We eat ice cream and the Eskimo eats frozen meat, without any evident deleterious effect on the health, so the temperature of drinking water seems to be more a question of habit than health.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Biggest chance for western hemisphere unity the United States has had in all history presents itself this week at Havana. But also it is the toughest.

The majority of people in Latin America are aroused and worried over Hitler, feel more friendly toward the United States than ever before. But simultaneously, vigorous minority groups in every country, many of them already lined up with Hitler, are doing their best to sabotage western hemisphere harmony.

Inside the Brazilian army for instance, about 40 per cent of the officers admire and lean toward the German military system. In Argentina are some 3,000,000 Italians upon whose passions Mussolini can play. In Uruguay, even after a fifth column Nazi plot to take over the country was exposed publicly, some members of the Uruguayan cabinet thought it was better to close their eyes, not offend Germany.

Hitler, they figured, would be too important a customer after the end of this war to risk alienating him.

So it will take all the skill of Cordell Hull's artful diplomacy to bring anything out of the Havana conference save the usual collection of pious platitudes regarding goodwill, uniform customs procedure and the eradication of the boll weevil.

* * *

Ruling Families.

What most people in the United States do not realize about Latin America is that most of its republics never have been actual democracies. They are a collection of oligarchies, in which the aristocratic families, many of them descended from the Spanish conquistadors, and since grown affluent on copper, tin, meat and coffee, have dominated their countries almost as completely as the Nazis have Germany.

The advent of Hitler, therefore, does not particularly disturb them, except insofar as he is likely to upset their sytem of land and mineral ownership with a new national socialism.

Actually, the ruling families of Latin America have disliked Roosevelt more than Hitler—up until the last few months. More recently they see Roosevelt as the lesser of two evils. But for seven years they considered New Deal reforms and the tremendous popularity of the president among the Latin American masses as a genuine menace.

It is necessary to draw this very definite distinction between the people of Latin America and their governments. With the people, the United States never has been more popular. To them, Roosevelt has been little less than a saint. His good neighbor policy won genuine friends, but with the ruling families it was different.

So the problem of the United States is to continue reaching down below the oligarchies to the people, as Roosevelt has done, but as the aloof gentlemen in the state department have not done. U. S. diplomats in Latin America mingle with the upper crust, are considered hoity-toity snobs by the majority of the people.

In order to penetrate below the aristocracy, brilliant young Enrique Lozada, ex-counselor of the Bolivian legation, now a professor at Harvard and Williams, proposes that 5,000 North American students, carefully picked from the finest in the country, go to Latin America to work and live; while 5,000 South American students come to the United States.

He has already started this program by selling the idea to a large group of his own students, and arranging for them to live with Latin American families.

This is the kind of good neighborliness which really gets to the roots of things.

* * *

Pan-American Highway.

One big help to Mr. Hull's work at Havana may be a giant road-building program straight through Central America from Mexico to the Panama Canal, in order to strengthen canal defenses.

This is a 3,267-mile route, passing through tangled jungles and mountain ranges, which would connect countries some of which have no highways across their borders but depend solely on shipping lanes for communication.

About half of the highway is already built and in fairly good condition. Completion of the rest would cost an estimated $78,000,000. Most radical feature of the plan is that the construction would be transferred from a slow-moving inter-American project, suffering typical Latin delays, to become a U. S. project, using American capital and American engineers.

The highway is already completed from the U. S. border to Mexico City and 200 miles beyond. The road through Guatemala is mediocre, and two-thirds of the route across El Salvador is good. But in Southern Mexico, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, engineers confront a "road" that is nothing more than a footpath, and in some seasons not even passable on foot.

Advocates of the new plan urge that the U. S. investment would be repaid many times in commercial advantage, by opening up landwise trade, to say nothing of the strategic advantage of being able to reach the Canal Zone by automobile.

* * *

Too Much Flax.

Right in the midst of U. S. efforts to improve relations with South America comes the embarrassing fact that U. S. farmers are producing a flax crop big enough to shoulder out all Argentine imports.

Ordinarily the United States imports large quantities of Argentine flax to produce linseed oil that paints the homes and makes the linoleum for American homes. Domestic production is usually only about one-third of our requirements. Argentina has been glad to supply the balance, and its importation has raised relatively no outcry from American farmers.

Now comes the official forecast of the 28,000,000-bushel crop. Normal U. S. consumption is 25,000,000 bushels.

Argentina has already suffered the loss of markets in Europe, particularly Belgium and Holland, and if she is to lose the U. S. market as well, the consequences will be the exact opposite of what the master minds in Havana are trying to accomplish.

Chances are that the United States will import a small quantity of Argentine flax for use on the eastern seaboard, where American flax does not normally penetrate. But this will be only about half the normal imports unless enough paint is splashed on the navy's new battleships to increase the U. S. consumption.

For the sake of Argentine friendship, officials here are considering the possibility of a surplus purchase program. This has been done in cotton, corn and wheat, but is unique and revolutionary in flax, which has always been a deficiency crop.

The purpose would be to take a portion of the crop off the market as a price-stiffening influence.

A Farmer's Diary

His Own Coal Mine.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ALONG a mountain road I saw a log-built coal tipple and a pile of slate. I noticed the shaft ran into the hill at no great depth, and wondered how far back it went and how deep the vein might be. A young man worked on a cottage he was building for himself. His family was already living there. I went over.

"Who owns that mine?" I asked.

"My father does," he replied, quite proudly. "And I work it. I've been here several years now getting out the coal. I'll have a job for life if I want to do it. Would you like to see the mine?"

I told him I would. We walked in from the home to the opening above which was built a scaffold covered with a bed of wheat straw.

"That keeps the snow from coming in this place during the winter," he said. He filled two calcium carbide lamps, poured in water and shut the lids. He lighted one and handed it to me. He took the other and I eagerly followed him into the horizontal shaft.

The day was very warm. Fifty feet inside a fog became so thick that our lamps were hardly visible. Water dripped from the low roof. Once I raised my head too fast and bumped it sharply against a crosspiece.

"Here'll be a mess for a wash," he said. "Only four feet, you see, and there's two veins here. The lower one is only four feet high, then a layer of slate, and three more feet of coal. The lower one is best. When we have a particular order we get that kind. Furnace coal don't make no difference."

At distances of 75 feet were air vents. I felt the warm moist draft coming in whenever we passed such an opening, and it seemed refreshing. Our lights reflected sparkling colors from the standing seam.

When we had walked in a stooped position for many feet we came to five cars loaded with a ton of coal. A little path back of the props made it possible to get around. Beyond this train was a wider space where I saw a miner's pick, some long augers and empty boxes. Large piles of coal were loosened by a recent blast and heavy lumps lay unshattered on the floor.

I asked how many tons one workman could handle in a day.

"I've got out six tons all by myself in eight hours," said he. "We get about $1.75 a ton for it when we dump it on the track. I reckon it costs a dollar for labor and shooting, and then there's a tax. Sometimes in winter, I've had four workers on the job. The material don't cost me much, and there's a hundred acres to work, or I suppose I'll be here a good many years more."

THREE PILOTS PASS TEST, NOW SPORT 'WINGS'

They're OK'd by Inspector For CAA; Ashland Goes Ahead on Airport Plan.

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

Three Mansfield district pilots were sporting their wings today

Each earned his private pilot license the past week by demonstrating his ability to handle an airplane to the satisfaction of a government inspector who flew here from Cleveland to "spot check" them

The three had been passed by James R (Bud) Harrington airport manager and the Civil Aeronautics Authority's examiner for the north central Ohio district but W W Jarrell Cleveland district COO inspector wanted to look them over before granting them a license to carry passengers aloft

Those who successfully passed the rigid six-hour test, which included aerial maneuvers were Charles W Silsby, 94 Bowman street; William R Kick, 467 Wayne street, and A L Bertling, sales manager of the North Electric company, Galion.

Ralph Shelton, vice president of the Art Rattan works completed the written part of the examination under the eagle eye of Jarrell and is expected to take the air sometime this week for his flight test before Harrington

Two other fliers came to Mansfield over the week-end for examinations by Harrington They were flight tested and recommended to the Civil Aeronautics board for their private pilots license

Flying here from Sandusky airport was Robert Seltzer Bellevue and Daniel G Phelps of Ashland Seltzer took his exam Saturday and Phelps was tested yesterday

* * *

The summer phase of the Civilian Pilot Training program sponsored by the CAA got under way the past week at the Ashland airport with 15 Ashland college students participating in the program

Among them is one Mansfielder, LeRoy Wittemire, who soloed at the municipal airport several months ago

The class is being conducted by Walter Shuey operator of the field and vice president of the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association

The college program differs from the civilian program conducted here in that the students are given ground instruction and flight training at the same time with the result that the fliers are expected to be 'graduated' for their private pilots license in about 12 weeks, or about Oct 1

Incidentally as we told you several weeks ago a group of Ashland businessmen seeking to establish a municipal airport at Ashland and willing to spend private funds to develop the field has already chosen the ground for laying out the flying field

It is expected that the tract located within three miles of Ashland will be purchased and turned over to the city

Plans to construct hard-surface runways and hangars and an administration building are being pushed with the purpose in mind of obtaining mail and passenger service for the community

And unless Mansfield does some real developing of its own municipal airport by improving the runways and levelling the field the first thing we know we're going to have to go to Ashland for air mail and passenger service

* * *

The training of another class of student fliers under the CPT program is expected to start next Monday Harrington said today

About 125 youth have registered for training and 75 have already passed their physical examinations

Inspector Harrington says he plans to conduct two classes two nights a week each for 12 weeks in air regulations navigation meteorology and theory of flight

* * *

Although he would like to conduct the classes at the airport during the hot weather Harrington said CAA officials are of the opinion that the classes should be held in one of the school buildings The matter will be decided upon this week

* * *

And still student applications for flying instruction pour in at the airport Eight new ones were enrolled the past week

They are A P Hasse Coshocton Harvey and Merle Berry Lucas H H Hoiles Bucyrus and Donald Baxter Carl Fulton Walter Billotte and D A Krueger all of Mansfield

Friday two Mansfielders will go to Kansas City to bring in their new airplane which will be hangared at the field

Dr L D Bonar and Tom (Commercial Motor Freight) Jones will fly back their new two place Rearwin cabin ship

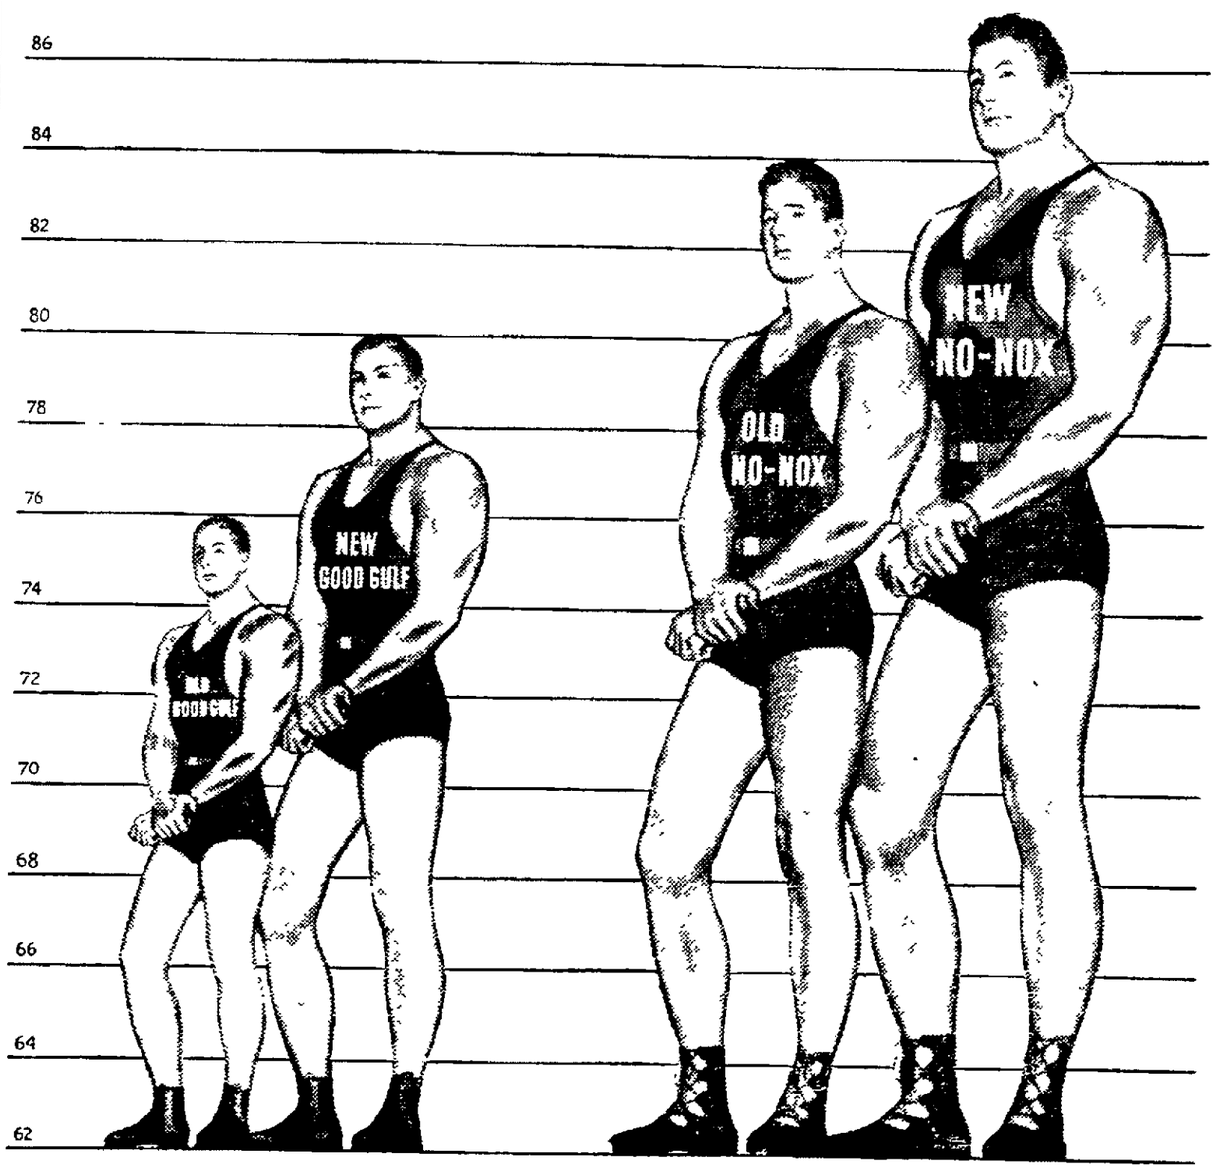
Huge Improvement in Gulf Gasolines



To measure the quality of a gasoline, no hocus-pocus is needed.

There is a scientific test that shows the comparative anti-knock value of any motor fuel.

The shorter figure above represents the former "mark" in that test of GOOD GULF, one of the best regular-priced gasolines in America. But . . . hold your hat! The taller figure shows you the precise improvement in the NEW GOOD GULF, now stepped-up tremendously. What superb performance this power-packed fuel will deliver in your modern, high-compression engine!

Above, at left, is the pre-improvement "mark" of GULF NO-NOX—for years one of America's best premium gasolines.

But hang on to that hat again as you look at the other figure! It shows how much GULF NO-NOX has been lifted over its old high. And when you consider that the old NO-NOX was knock-proof under all normal driving conditions—that was no easy improvement to make!

MISS KATHRYN PFAFF, WILLIAM TODD MARRY

Sunday Afternoon Ceremony Performed At Uncle's Home: Couple Leave On Michigan Motor Trip After Reception.

A BRIGHT July sun added a touch of brilliance to the wedding at 3:30 p. m. yesterday of Miss Kathryn Pfaff and William G. Todd, in the living room of the bridegroom's uncle's home, 400 Park avenue west. An improvised altar of ferns, palms and garden flowers and white tapers in two tall candelabra was arranged in the living room of the Coleman B. Todd home. Rev. H. E. Tropf, pastor of the Grace Gospel Tabernacle, officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pfaff, 623 West Fourth street, was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a slipper satin gown made princess style, and ending in a long train. The long sleeves were fitted tightly from elbow to wrist. With her dress she wore a knee-length veil attached to a seed pearl coronet, and a strand of pearls and a matching bracelet, the gifts of the bridegroom. With this she carried a bouquet of white lilies with matching ribbon streamers.

Miss Pfaff was attended by her sister, Martha, who wore a dusty blue net over a matching taffeta slip. The dress was made with puffed sleeves and bodice fullness shirred into a Vee neckline. With the long full-skirted dress she carried an arm bouquet of pink larkspur and gypsophilia.

James M. Anderson, Bay City, Mich., cousin of Mr. Todd's, was best man, while Raymond L. Beal, brother-in-law of the bride, and Coleman Todd, uncle of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

Uncle Plays.

The nuptial music, which was played by David K. Todd, Cleveland, another uncle of the bridegroom, included "Liebestraum" by Liszt, "I Love Thee" by Edward Grieg, and the two bridal marches.

Mrs. Pfaff attended her daughter's wedding attired in a pale green and white flower printed dress, while the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Bryant B. Todd, wore a blue silk print. Both women had corsages of gardenias.

An informal reception for 90 guests was held immediately following the ceremony. Garden flowers were used throughout the house, and the bride's table was decorated with a large wedding cake. Buffet style refreshments were served.

The former Miss Pfaff is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, and has been employed as a long distance telephone operator for the Ohio Bell Telephone company. She is a member of Alpha Pi Sigma sorority.

Employed As Artist.

Mr. Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant B. Todd, 357 Marion avenue, also attended Mansfield Senior high school, and is employed as a commercial artist with Coleman Todd Associates.

For a week's motoring trip to northern Michigan, Mrs. Todd chose a natural linen redingote over a brown and white silk polka dot dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage as a traveling costume. Upon their return to Mansfield July 28 Mr. and Mrs. Todd will be at home temporarily at 400 Park avenue west.

Out-of-town guests here for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Johns and son, William, Virginia Mazoch, and David K. Todd, all of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Mathias, Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Margaret Anderson and sons James and Richard, Bay City, Mich.

Varied Weekend Events Entertain Mansfielders

A variety of entertainment provided relaxation for Mansfielders over the week-end, as the temperature soared to new heights for the current season, and everybody sought a cool breze. The birthday of Mrs. E. F. Morse, 414 West Fourth street, was celebrated, and the departure of Lieut. James Myers was honored at a family party held at Middle park yesterday.

Lieut. Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Myers, 425 West Fourth street, is leaving Aug. 1 from New York for Ft. Perrari, Panama Canal Zone. He has been stationed at Ft. Hayes until recently when he came to Mansfield for a month's visit with friends and relatives.

Use Orange In Chicken Ragout

By BETSY NEWMAN

Ragout means to me The Arabian Nights Tales, in which some unlucky wight always was getting into difficulties with the Beautiful Princess by eating ragout with onions or garlic. This chicken ragout is good, but it also contains onions, so look out, you lovers, and don't eat it unless the girl friend is present and partakes too.

Today's Menu.

Chicken Ragout Rice
Mixed Green Salad
Buttered Cabbage
Green Apple Sauce Gingerbread
Tea or Coffee

* * *

Chicken Ragout.

1 fowl, cut up as for fricassee

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) from 1½ to 3 hours, according to the age of the fowl. Serve with border of curried rice.

* * *

Curried Rice.

1 cup rice
2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon chopped onion
2 teaspoons salt
1 or 2 teaspoons curry power

Informally Speaking...

July 22, 1940.

Lucy, dear:

BACK to work again after two weeks of vacationing. I hope you're not too cross with me for not writing you a post card while I was gone, but I was so busy traveling about from one place to another that I just couldn't seem to find time to drop anyone a line. You see, I went up to Evanston, Ill. for the first visit at my Alma Mater since graduation, and then went to see some of my college sorority sisters who live in that section of the country.

Marianne

* * * * *

My Milwaukee friend and I arrived in Chicago, Ill. a week ago Sunday—at precisely the same time all the delegates were getting in for the Democratic National convention. . . . And although we were unable to get tickets for any of the sessions, we found the convention city to be a gala one—with more flags and policemen than I ever thought there were in the whole world before. . . . The Northwestern campus out in Evanston didn't look the same as when I last saw it, Lucy. It's had its face lifted in so many places—with several of the old, familiar buildings destroyed or cut up and moved to make room for several beautiful new structures.

* * * * *

ABOUT the middle of the week then, I went out to Cedar Rapids, Ia. to visit my former Wittenberg college room mate, her husband and baby son. . . . And in case you think it's warm here, Lucy, you should be out on those Iowa plains—the heat is terrific! Incidentally, I went out on the streamliner, "City of Denver" and made the trip of some 200 odd miles in exactly three hours. . . . When we crossed the Mississippi river, there was a full moon and it was really a very beautiful sight.

* * * * *

On Friday evening, I went back to Chicago to visit with another Northwestern friend and her husband. . . . We had a different evening's entertainment when we went to International House (an institute founded by John D. Rockefeller, where young men and women of all races and creeds reside and pursue their studies) for a program of folk dances. . . . These were presented on a large court, lighted by gay Japanese lanterns, and the dancers, attired in costumes representative of many countries, so thoroughly enjoyed what they were doing that they didn't mind the heat a bit. . . . It was truly inspirational, Lucy, to see Japanese, Chinese, Germans and Frenchmen joining hands there in dances of all nations from Russia to America while in other parts of the world their brothers are shouldering arms against each other.

Since I've been back in town less than 24 hours, I've had little time to learn much news concerning folks here about, but I do know that D. L. Burns, Tolman Burns and Carlton Fernyak and their wives left yesterday for Detroit, Mich., where they will spend four days attending the 15th annual convention of the National Typewriter and Office Machine Dealers association. . . . Oh, yes, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roepke had Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Gakins of Detroit, Mich. as their house guests over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hess are hoping for cooler weather on their vacation . . . With their three children, Wanda, Norma and Lowell, they've gone to Havre, Mont. for a month's visit with relatives. Mary Jane Bellore, Rowena Tailor, Alice Miller and Helen Rantz are taking a trip through Smoky Mountain National park to Chattanooga, Asheville and Monticello—planning to return home by way of the Skyline drive.

Write soon, Lucy, and I'll be [illegible] from you then.
